Rebuilt Germany May Back Russia Says De Gaulle

PARIS (AP)—Gen. Charles de Gaulle said today the western powers are creating a new Germany that might not be willing to oppose Russia.

Turning the Ruhr coal mines and steel mills back into the hands of the Germans, he added, is "the gravest decision made so far during the 20th century."

De Gaulle told reporters that not only Britain and the United States, but the Russians as well, are trying to create a united Germany.

"England and America flatter themselves they can make something of the Reich to oppose Russia," De Gaulle said, "perhaps they can. But perhaps they can't.

"Hitler didn't have any difficulty reaching an accord with Russia when he wanted to dominate Europe . . . to which side will the new Reich turn? The question is very disturbing."

URGES DISSOLUTION

De Gaulle also told the press conference that if the French Communist Party has received outside aid it should be dissolved.

The conference was De Gaulle's second in little more than a month.

The general repeated his demand that France should hold a new general election and charged that the Centrist government parties were keeping themselves in power in the face of popular sentiment that they get out.

Three Die As Truck Hit By C.N. Flyer Near Viking, Alta.

VIKING, Alta. (CP) — Two men and a woman were killed late Tuesday night when their truck was struck by the Canadian National Railways' Trans-Canada flyer, the Continental Limited, at a level crossing less than a mile from here.

The dead: Frank Carlson, 60; Robert Kinghorn, 42, and Miss Anna Margarete Grimms. Carlson was a Viking district farmer and Kinghorn was a contract laborer.

Carlson was driving from the station to his farm in a light truck when the flyer, running 27 minutes behind schedule, crashed into the vehicle and dragged it 40 feet along the right of way.

The Continental ordinarily does not stop at this town 75 airmiles southeast of Edmonton.

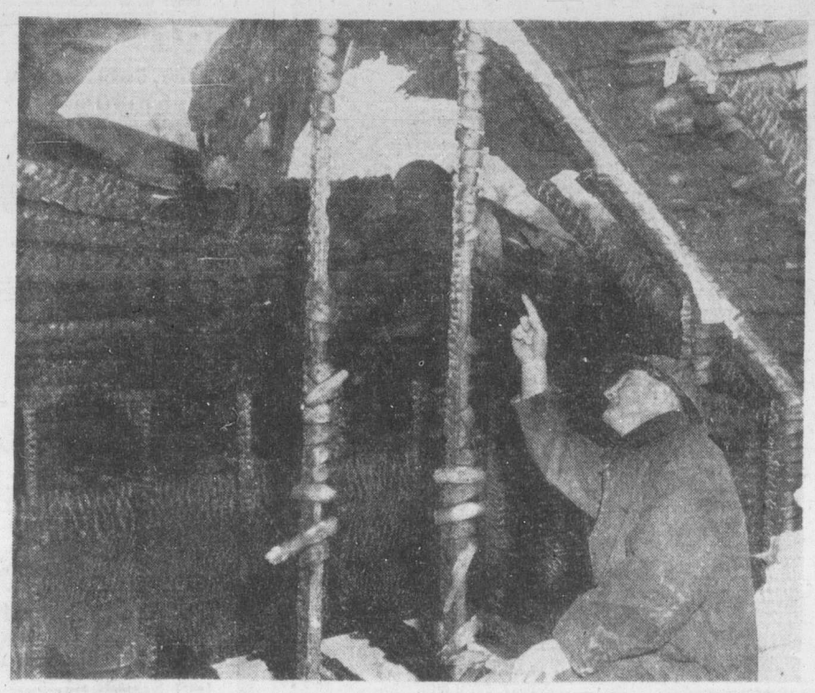
Arena Sightseeing Mayor George's Plan

A recommendation to this week's meeting of the City Council that citizens be taken on sightseeing trips through the uncompleted Memorial Arena was made by Mayor Percy George.

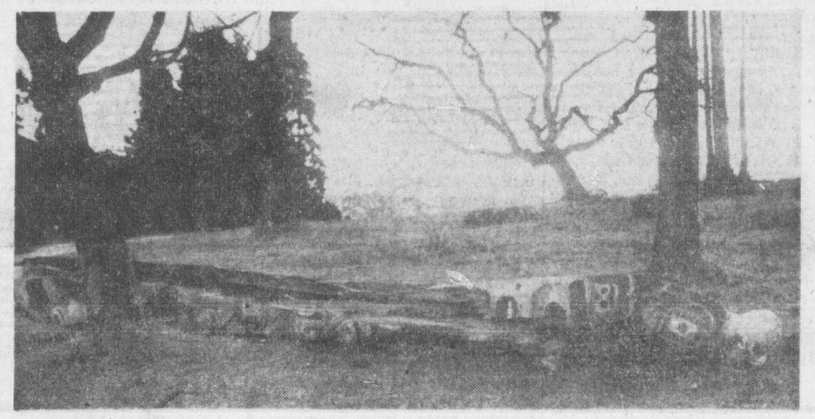
It was reported that Acting Mayor Ed. Williams made the suggestion.

Mayor George believes citizens would welcome the opportunity of inspecting the barrel-roof rink and be able to visualize the building in operation for skating, hockey, other sports, and cultural functions.

City Property Suffers In Gale



Gale-fanned flames ate through the roof of a two-story frame house at 1703 Bay Street. Fireman Joseph Broadwell, surrounded by charred walls and rafters, points to the gaping hole.



Another gale casualty was this totem pole which lies broken and split where the winds threw it at the Beacon Hill Park intersection of roads leading to the Lookout and the park lake.

Canada Spends Two Million A Day On Social Security

TORONTO (CP)—Canada is spending more than $2,000,000 a day on all government social security measures, Health Ministre Martin said today.

Of this amount, the federal government is paying 80 per cent, the minister told a meeting of the University of Toronto Liberal Association.

"This is an impressive total," he added.

In contrast with the Liberals, Mr. Martin claimed, the Progressive Conservatives seemed to regard social security platform promises as necessary concessions to the pressure of public opinion.

And the Socialists, for their part, "seem to regard the social security part as being more important than the whole pattern of our national economy."

"Their concern seems to be to spend money before they have made sure they can make it."

"Under Liberalism, we have come to the highest point of prosperity in our history," the minister told the association.

Liberalism was still on the march.

$500,000 Fire Hits Bruce Mines, Ont.

BRUCE MINES, Ont. (CP)—An early morning fire today wiped out the main business section of this old copper-mining town 42 miles east of Sault Ste. Marie. Damage is estimated at upwards of $500,000.

The fire broke out at 6.05 a.m. EST. and two hours later half a dozen business places—including two stone buildings — had been destroyed. All that remained standing were brick chimneys.

Buildings across the street were damaged by the roaring flames.

Cause of the fire was not definitely determined, but it is believed to have been started by sparks from an electric transformer.

Another Big Blow Forecast Tomorrow

With the toll of last night's gale still a dismal question mark, weather officials today issued warnings of another big blow shaping up 1,000 miles off the northern British Columbia coast.

The new gale is expected to hit tomorrow.

Blown over at a drunken angle, this tin chimney was able to survive the gale only because of the guy wires which held it firm to its brick chimney base on a Broughton Street house.

Latest Gale Increases City Power Line Trouble

Tuesday's gale which reached a peak of 74 miles an hour with gusts of 84 miles an hour during the afternoon caused damage to power lines throughout the Greater Victoria district where B.C. Electric repair crews were already repairing damage of previous gales.

Late last night, the linemen had completed most of the repair work and services were restored after a series of power failures to scattered localities as the gales tore wires loose, threw trees across the lines and blew down poles.

B.C. Telephone officials, who had already reported little trouble in the previous gales, today were able to report again that damage to their lines was light with only minor disruption of service which were repaired as fast as linemen could get to the scene.

At Victoria Machinery Depot Co. Ltd., the Princess Elizabeth, berthed at the company's outer wharf plant broke heavy mooring lines as the gales caught her broadside. Workmen managed to bend on new lines and kept the coast passenger ship from damage.

A totem pole at the Beacon Hill Park intersection leading to the lake and the Lookout was blown over during the night. A tile from the northwest corner of the Belmont Building was peeled off by the wind yesterday afternoon.

90,000 Lost By Reds In Battle Chiangites Say

NANKING (AP) — The government asserted today 90,000 casualties had been inflicted on Reds routed east of Suchow, gateway to Nanking.

The official and pro-government reports buoyed the capital, but skeptics waited for more information.

These points, however, appeared true on the basis of information here:

1. The Chinese Air Force blunted Red attacks across the open country east of Suchow, 200 miles northeast of the capital.

2. Gen. Huang Po-tao's 7th Army Group, which was isolated east of Suchow, lost more than half of its full strength of four armies. It survived repeated attacks and still is in the field.

3. The Executive Yuan ordered martial law extended to Tsingtao, site of the United States naval base in the western Pacific. The action followed the application of martial law to Nanking, Shanghai and Suchow.

NEARING RAIL LINE

4. Gen. Pai Chung-hsi's four national armies from Hankow approached the Pukow-Suchow railroad from the west after a forced march of 180 miles.

Qualified observers here hold the opinion the Reds were regrouping for another assault instead of being on the run.

Most Chinese expressed doubt that the Suchow "victory" was as sweeping as pictured by the newspapers and government. But it appeared that Chiang Kai-shek's troops at least held their own in the first phases of the great Suchow battle in which more than 1,000,000 men allegedly were committed.

Retired Premier To Stay In House He Tells Riding

OTTAWA (CP)—Rt. Hon. William Lyon Mackenzie King, who retired Monday as Prime Minister, has advised the Glengarry Liberal Association that he wishes to continue to represent that eastern Ontario constituency through the next session of Parliament.

He sent a letter to Eugene Macdonald, secretary of the association:

"I should like to express anew to the good people of Glengarry my warm appreciation . . . . .

"While giving up office I much look forward to continuing to represent the historic constituency of Glengarry throughout the remainder of this Parliament. For this great privilege, I desire also to again thank the electors of the constituency."

Mr. King won a seat in Glengarry in a by-election following his personal defeat in the Saskatchewan riding of Prince Albert in the 1945 general election.

Ontario Has Wind

TORONTO (CP)—A gale which reached 80 miles an hour in gusts took a vicious slap at Ontario Tuesday night and early today.

Damage was heavy in some sections. Western Ontario bore the brunt of the storm.

Eire Parliament Gets Bill To Cut Last Empire Link

DUBLIN (Reuter)—The Dail (Parliament) today unanimously approved introduction of the Republic of Ireland Bill, which would sever Eire's last link with the Commonwealth.

The bill, introduced by Prime Minister John Costello, will receive second reading next Wednesday.

The bill provides for:

1. Repeal of the Executive Authority (external relations) Act, 1936, under which Eire's external affairs appointments were made with the approval of the

2. Exercise of these executive functions in connection with external relations by the President of Eire.

3. A declaration that "the name of the state shall be the Republic of Ireland."

Bismarck Scion Freed

FRANKFURT (AP)—Heinrich von Eisiedel, great-grandson of Germany's iron chancellor Bismarck, was freed from prison today by a U.S. military government court.

Pensioner Left Robbed, Unconscious, Bleeding At Rear Of City Hall

An elderly woman pensioner is not expected to live after being brutally beaten and robbed by an unknown assailant at 10.45 today in the public lavatory at the rear of the City Hall.

Victim of a vicious attack is Mrs. Mary Attwood, 74, a widow who lived at 1214 May Street. Her attacker is a woman.

Mrs. Attwood is in St. Joseph's Hospital, her skull fractured in several places, and her scalp deeply gashed.

She was found slumped in a corner of the comfort station by an unidentified woman who ran, screaming in the City Hall for police to be called.

A dragnet was thrown out immediately over the lower part of the island, and door to door checks were being made at press time in the rooming house area of lower Johnson Street.

Mrs. Attwood regained consciousness and was able to give officers a description of her assailant.

She said she was struck over the head as she stepped from one of the cubicles of the Fiddler's Green lavatory.

Her purse, containing about $20, was missing when the woman was discovered in a semi-conscious state, blood pouring from her head.

Mrs. Attwood receives a small pension from the city. Her husband, George H. Attwood, who died seven years ago, was employed by the parks department of the city for 30 years and at the time of his death was head nurseryman at Beacon Hill Park.

She had gone to town this morning to do some shopping.

Believed Struck With Bottle

Police have not found the instrument with which Mrs. Attwood was struck.

They believe it may have been a bottle.

Investigators said the attacker must have struck the elderly woman many times, in view of the severity of her injuries.

The unidentified woman who discovered the attack, notified Morran Waller, secretary of City Council committees, who was working in his office near the Pandora Avenue entrance of the City Hall. After a woman employee confirmed what the unidentified woman reported, Mr. Waller called police and immediately after notified the city medical health officer, Dr. J. L. Gayton.

Dr. Gayton said the woman had lost a dangerous amount of blood when he saw her.

The walls and floor were splattered.

Police took the woman to hospital by ambulance.

In charge of investigations are Inspector Mercer and Inspector John Howe. Taking part are Sgt. Thomas Stevenson and Constables Richard Berry and James Strong. Police Matron Alice Pye is assisting.

The victim was attended later by Dr. F. M. Bryant. Her condition at press time was "critical."

Two sons and a daughter of the woman were notified of the attack on their mother shortly after it occurred. They are Mrs. Glady Barnes and George H. Attwood who lived with her at the Bay Street address, and Richard Attwood, 175 Robertson Street.

U.S. Carrier Escort, Holicopters Scour Island West Coast

A United States navy carrier escort with two helicopters moved today into the Vancouver Island search for a missing Neptune bomber with nine men aboard.

Thirteenth Naval District headquarters in Seattle reported the U.S.S. Rendova was due to arrive halfway up the island's west coast at 4 p.m. today to release the helicopters. They will be based at Tofino, near where the search has centred since the big plane disappeared Nov. 4.

The Rendova made the run from California with the helicopters. It is due to return south after releasing the two search craft. The Rendova left its own covey of marine fighter planes in California.

Not Seeking Orders

WASHINGTON (CP) — Rt. Hon. C. D. Howe said this afternoon Canada is "interested" in obtaining United States orders for Canadian military equipment.

The Canadian Trade Minister, here for three days of conferences with United States defence and munitions officials, emphasized, however, that he is not "seeking" orders.

Gale Delays Removal Of Big Rock Slide On Alberni Highway

Tuesday's' gale, which was so strong that workmen could hardly stand against it, slowed up the clearing of the Alberni road but the district engineer's office of the public works department reported today that with favorable weather during the next few days the highway will be open for traffic Friday.

The slide occurred Sunday at the landmark known as Angel's Rock at Cameron Lake. There more than 1,000 cubic yards of rock overhanging the road broke away and covered the highway.

Tuesday trees were uprooted by the gale and sliding down the slope so that it was too dangerous for men to attempt to remove the rock. The men were employed removing other trees which fell across the highway throughout the day of the gale.

Railway To Grow Ties

SEATTLE (AP)—The Great Northern Railway said today it plans to start a 75,000-acre tree farm in the Flathead Lake area of Montana to "grow" railroad ties.

Trees planted now should be ready for the harvest in 30 or 40 years, officials said.

West Demands Berlin Issue Left With U.N.

PARIS (AP) — Britain, the United States and France today told top United Nations officials formally they want the Berlin dispute with Russia left in the hands of the Security Council as a threat to peace.

This was the western reply to the appeal of H. V. Evatt, Assembly president, and Trygve Lie, United Nations Secretary-General, to the four big powers to compose their differences for the good of world peace.

Russia already had replied. She insists, as before, that the Berlin question is part of the all-German question and must be discussed by the council of foreign ministers.

Britain said the Russian veto of a Berlin solution offered by the so-called "neutrals" of the Security Council stood in the way of progress toward a settlement. Canada is a member of the "neutral" group. That proposal had called for lifting of the blockade, to be followed immediately by a four-power conference.

The United States said it would not negotiate the issue of Berlin under the threat implicit in the Russian blockade.

Halifax Stevedores Will Unload All Arriving Ships

HALIFAX (CP) — Longshoremen at this port will handle cargo of any ship which arrives here regardless of whether it has been diverted from strike-bound United States ports.

This clarifying statement was made today by J. J. Campbell, president of the Halifax Longshoremen's Association (A.F.L.), after a period of ambiguous statements and misinterpretations of exactly what was the attitude of the 2,000 stevedores.

UNBROKEN RECORD

"Our executive has made a full study of our position in the light of charges made by our employers that our action in refusing to handle diverted ships was actually illegal," Mr. Campbell said. "We have exhaustively studied the terms of our agreement and must agree with our employers or else risk the consequences of hurting our unblemished record of never having violated an agreement.

"Our agreement makes no provision for interpretation of what is or isn't a diverted ship, in fact no such word as diverted appears in our contract. We are legally bound to handle all ships which pass Chebucto Head (at the entrance to Halifax harbor).

"And that's just what we're going to do," he added.

There was only one "if" in Mr. Campbell's latest statement. He said that while his members were obligated to handle all shipping that arrived consigned to a local agent or representative of the world's shipping lines which had been established here previous to the United States strike, they felt it would be optional for them to decide on how a line outside this interpretation should be handled.

It is known that all the big lines have their own offices or agents in Halifax and there are only a few minor lines unrepresented.

Drew's Challenge Accepted By Howe If Lights Go On

WASHINGTON (CP) — Rt. Hon. C. D. Howe, Canadian Trade Minister, today offered to debate the Ontario Hydro shortage with George Drew in the Canadian House of Commons.

Drew, new national leader of the Progressive Conservative Party, early this week challenged Howe to discuss the shortage on "the public platform."

Howe, here for talks with United States defence and munitions officials, said in an interview:

"As the challenged party, it is my privilege to name the time and the place of the debate.

"The place will be the floor of the House of Commons.

"The time will be any afternoon or evening that's suitable—providing the lights are on at the time.

Drew resigned from the premierhip of Ontario after his selection in September as national leader of the Progressive Conservative Party.

E.R.P. Only Hope Says C.C.F. Chief

SASKATOON (CP) — The European Recovery Plan is "the only hope for rehabilitation of Europe," M. J. Coldwell, National C.C.F. leader, told a Saskatoon audience of about 600 persons Tuesday night.

Mr. Coldwell praised U.S. authorities in Germany for "the excellent job of re-education along democratic lines" that was being done.

He said he had previously held fears that the U.S. occupation would result of moulding a society along the lines of American capitalism, but added that "what we saw proved us wrong."

He and other delegates attending the recent Commonwealth talks had visited Germany and had been permitted to talk "privately and unsupervised" with occupation authorities, German officials and others.

Hear Probe Report

VANCOUVER (AP) — A general meeting of University of British Columbia students Tuesday heard the report of a special finance investigation committee which probed alleged misappropriation of $42,000, pledged to the War Memorial Gymnasium Fund.

The students were told the 1947-48 Student Council used $16,000 for general expenditures, including payment or debts from the previous year. The remaining $26,000 of gym fund money represented cash on hand, bonds, inventories and fixed capital assets.

UNAWARE ROOF NEEDS REPAIR

It's a well known fact that many homeowners are not aware their roof is leaking until water starts trickling through the ceilings or down the walls. Storm Holds Alberni Train 7 Hours, Phone Lines Out North Of Nanaimo

Delayed seven hours on its trip from Victoria to Port Alberni Tuesday, owing to the lashing storm which tore trees up by the roots and scattered them over the tracks, the E. & N. Railway was on its usual schedule today, according to D. B. Nickerson, chief dispatcher at Victoria.

Telephone lines went down in the storm Tuesday afternoon and service north of Nanaimo was still out this morning, according to a B.C. Telephone Co. official at Nanaimo. There was minor trouble between Duncan and Nanaimo Tuesday but the latter was at no time isolated.

MANY TREES DOWN

"We expect restoration of service some time today," the official said. "We have every available man out on the work. There was another bad storm last night with a large number of trees coming down."

At Mesachie Lake, loggers at Hillcrest Lumber Co. holdings worked for two hours Tuesday morning but had to quit because of the 60-mile-an-hour gale, which was accompanied by hail and blinding rain.

Vancouver Island Coach Lines have regular bus service as far as Parksville, but nothing from there on, since the road to Cameron Lake, blocked by a landslide Sunday, is still closed and not expected to open until Friday. Service between Victoria and Parksville, however, is normal.

Reports that a railway trestle at Cameron Lake was down were denied by Mr. Nickerson this morning, who said delays in schedule were caused from trees and debris on the tracks. The latter have been cleared, he added.

The E. and N. left Victoria at 10.10 Tuesday morning and was due to arrive at Port Alberni at 5.25 but did not get in until 1.20 this morning.

"Everything is normal today, however," Mr. Nickerson said.

Lights and telephone service in the Mesachie Lake district were maintained but not at Lake Cowichan through to Duncan, according to reports.

TELEPHONE SERVICE OFF

Telephone service was cut off from the lake to the Duncan area with lines down. Trees were reported across the roads at some points. Cowichan village reported lights out Tuesday morning from 6 until noon.

Train service from up-island points to Victoria Tuesday was delayed with the train from Courtenay late arriving into Victoria. Electricity was cut off temporarily at some points owing to storm interference with the lines.

No damage was reported from the Duncan area, with all roads open, according to Cpl. F. L. Jeeves, in charge of the Duncan detachment of the B.C. Police. Trees and debris thrown down by the storm were found on roads in Cowichan Lake and Youbou areas, but all roads were passable, he said.

Say Washington Message To Boost Morale In China

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP)—Diplomatic authorities speculated today that the United States government soon may issue a pronouncement designed to boost the morale of China's anti-Communist forces.

President Truman and the State Department have before them a plea from Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek for a policy declaration reaffirming support of Chiang's nationalist government.

State Undersecretary Robert A. Lovett scheduled a press conference for noon today, but it was uncertain whether he would discuss this aspect of the China situation.

Most informed officials considered it more likely that any broad policy declaration would have to await the review of international affairs which Mr. Truman and State Secretary Marshall will hold at the White House next Monday.

They also are expected to come to grips with the major issue of how far the United States can and should go in backing up its China policies with dollars, arms and civilian goods.

Chinese ambassadors Wellington Koo told a reporter late Tuesday he had transmitted to the State Department Chiang's desire for an American policy statement.

What is wanted is an expression of "sympathy, solidarity and support" to help raise the morale of nationalist China, which in recent weeks has suffered grave defeats at the hands of the Communists.

President Truman has issued two major statements on China policy during his administration—one in December, 1946, and another a year later. In substance, he declared his support for the anti-Communist regime in China, although he was critical of certain shortcomings.

Wind Whipped Fire Drives Nurses From Bay Street Home

Interior of the upper half of the two-story frame house owned by Mrs. F. E. Ramsfield, a nurse, at 1703 Bay Street, was completely gutted by fire, fanned by the high wind Tuesday night.

Back bedrooms of the first floor were badly damaged by the fire. Firemen laid tarpaulins over furniture and other interior contents to protect them from water damage.

Alarm reached the fire department at 10.12, but the fire had apparently been burning for some time prior to that for when firemen arrived the flames had secured a firm hold. Firemen remained until after midnight before the fire was put out. One fireman was left on the job all night to prevent a new breakout. Early this morning timbers started to smoulder again and firemen were again called.

The fire started behind the first-floor fireplace. It flared up a partition to the next floor and continued on to the ceiling. The flames got through the roof only in one place.

Only $1,500 in insurance was carried on the house, not nearly adequate to cover the cost of damage to the structure. There was no insurance on contents of the house, fire officials said. No one was hurt. Nurses who resided in the house were taken care of by neighbors for the night.

Assistant Fire Chief F. W. Briers, in charge of the fire-fighting operation, credited the quick thinking of Mrs. Ramsfield with preventing a much more serious blaze.

Mrs. Ramsfield as soon as she discovered the fire, closed the door to the blazing section to cut down drafts through the house.

Lost Overboard, Woman's Identity Remains Mystery

Identity of a woman passenger who was lost overboard from the C.P.R.'s coast passenger ship Princess Victoria Tuesday afternoon, as the ship was proceeding from Vancouver to this city, had still not been discovered, according to B.C. police and steamship company officials this morning.

It is not known exactly how the woman went overboard but officials discount any suggestion that she was washed overboard during Tuesday's gale.

B.C. police officials who investigated the woman's disappearance, said no one had actually seen her go over the ship's rail and it is not known whether she jumped or fell.

However, she was seen by a crew member just as she fell in the sea. The mishap took place at approximately 12.40 in the afternoon as the Princess Victoria was three miles north of Active Pass.

An unsuccessful search of the area was made by the vessel and company officials here were notified by the ship prior to her arrival at this port.

An unclaimed pair of rubbers, an umbrella and a handbag containing a purse was found beneath a lifeboat on the starboard side of the vessel, but they gave no clue to the woman's identity.

NOT VERY HELPFUL

ON NUMEROUS OCCASIONS IN THESE columns we have suggested that the fervent prayer of Mr. Harold Winch and his C.C.F. followers is that the Liberal and Progressive Conservative partners in the Coalition government of this province get into a wrangle and strain their relations to the breaking point. Yet there seems to be a disposition among certain elements of the anti-Socialist bloc to indulge in partisan nagging, to issue the occasional veiled threat of a parting of the ways, and generally to say those things that are sweet music to the ears of the left-wing opposition.

One mild example of this propensity, regardless of the fact that he himself is one of the bitterest enemies of the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation, was reflected in a statement attributed to Hon. Herbert Anscomb, provincial leader of the Progressive Conservative Party and Minister of Finance in the Coalition administration of British Columbia, in Saanich last Monday evening. He is quoted as saying: "Unless our party is strong, the Liberals will brush us aside; and I'll say that if we are strong and they are not, we'll brush them aside." There is no law to prevent Mr. Anscomb giving vent to his political or other feelings whenever he chooses; but we submit that anything he may say that, while perhaps satisfying to party pride, is not calculated to strengthen an arrangement that has given this province the best government it has ever had might well be left unsaid. What Colonel George Drew thinks about the political "marriage of convenience" in British Columbia, regardless also of such views as one or more members of the federal cabinet may entertain about its future, need not and should not influence either Mr. Anscomb or his friends.

Nor is any useful purpose served by the suggestion dropped by Captain J. D. Proudfoot, president of the Victoria Liberal Association, that "if the Conservatives are unhappy (about the Coalition) they can get out; we can carry the country any time." We can tell the Minister of Finance and the Captain that neither the provincial Progressive Conservatives nor the provincial Liberals are in a position to "go it alone" with the confident assurance of winning a majority of the seats in the Legislature. This somewhat dogmatic statement is not the result of a sampling of public opinion, either scientific or otherwise, but merely a reminder of the result of the general election of 1941 when three-cornered contests were the general rule and not the exception.

In other words, Mr. Anscomb and Captain Proudfoot know perfectly well that the best way to save this province, to promote its best interests and to guarantee stability in government in all its aspects is to see that no chinks appear in the Coalition armor.

"THAT LINE IS BUSY"

FEW HOMES AND PRACTICALLY NO business establishments try to get along without the benefit of a telephone these days, consequently any rise in population is marked by a corresponding rise in requests for telephone equipment and service. In a province such as British Columbia, which has augmented the number of its residents by more than 25 per cent since the early war days, a demand has thus been imposed on communications facilities which taxes the ability of the telephone company to keep pace. For this reason, although a record number of phones was installed during 1947—representing a gain of some 15,000 instruments—there are still about 25,000 would-be subscribers who are unable to obtain connections.

The bottleneck exists not so much in the supply of telephones but in central station equipment and the multi-circuit cables which connect the thousands of instruments. Full satisfaction of the demand, which incidentally is continent-wide, must await performance on the production lines. Meanwhile, although some inconvenience must accompany it, there is a certain satisfaction in knowing that this province is well out among the leaders in industrial and population growth.

WORDS AND MEANINGS

ONE OF THE DIFFICULTIES EXPERIenced by western nations in dealing with representatives of the Soviet Union lies in the strange way in which the Marxists twist the meanings of words until ordinary language becomes a jargon of esoteric terms. Such concepts as are denoted by our use of the nouns "democracy," "freedom," "popular vote," "election," and the like, become quite different ideas when converted to Communist nomenclature.

This came to mind in a perusal of a Paris item dealing with Russia's attempt to make some changes in the United Nations draft declaration of human rights. The phrase, "freedom of thought, conscience and religion," the Soviet spokesman wished to replace with merely "freedom of thought," on the argument that "scientific thought should have the same priority as religious thought in the era in which we live today." Quite apart from the doubts raised by his claim, the method of effecting what he called "the same priority" will cause most of us to wonder. It would seem to the normal person that the best way to give equality to the two ideas of scientific thought and religion would be to leave both of them in the declaration. The Russian representative's method was to ban all mention of religion.

That, of course, was his main intention, rather than to give equal standing to the two schools of thought, and it was borne out in another amendment submitted by Moscow. The Communist state wished to ensure that "freedom to perform religious services" should be subject to "the laws of the country concerned and the requirements of public morality." It requires no great imagination to visualize how great would be such "freedom" in a state which officially acknowledges atheism. Such an amendment would obviously circumvent the whole intent and meaning of this clause in the declaration of human rights, which is being drawn up primarily to guarantee those freedoms which the Kremlin seems intent on controlling.

SEWAGE PROBLEM

VICTORIA'S COUNCIL MEMBERS WILL have found little encouragement in the communication they received from Saanich this week relative to sewage flowing from the northern municipality into the city. The indefinite assurance from the municipal clerk—that "when the Saanich engineer is able to complete plans for a system of sewers in the area concerned, the question will be presented to the ratepayers of the area and if approved by them, immediate steps will be taken to alleviate this situation"—leaves much to be desired.

This is not a new problem. It may have become more aggravated in recent years, however, through greater density of population in the district which is inadequately supplied with sewers. Unless public information on the dangers of sewage has been far out of line, a serious menace is posed by the condition which has existed at the border for a long time.

Is the city to continue to take chances with the health of its residents in the area concerned? Or is there some means of exerting influence in a manner which will remove the "ifs" and "buts" from the Saanich proposals for future developments? Disease germs take little heed of good intent. If a danger exists, it should be removed at the municipality's expense. Health is not a stake to be risked in a gamble.

TREND IN 'STRIPS'

TO THOSE CONCERNED OVER THE vicious character of some of the so-called comic strips, the report of William Ferguson, creator of the newspaper pictorial feature "This Curious World," will be encouraging. The trend in strips, he said in an interview here this week, is toward the simple picture-story of the type originally intended to amuse children.

There are, of course, many wholesome forms for the "funny paper." The value of its technique as a means of education, moreover, is not to be ignored. And if the objectionable features which have quite rightly aroused the ire of parent-teacher groups and others interested in child development are removed, the artistic picture story could serve a highly useful purpose. Among those now being circulated are some that have in them an element of historic background which, given enlightened application, can be of value in creating mental pictures of old times and old customs. The adaptation of certain of the well-known books of childhood to this form of presentation may also encourage greater study of what used to be considered children's classics.

Acknowledgment of these virtues, however, underscores the fact that the undesirable strip can also have a very definite effect on a child reader. That makes the distribution of the latter type highly questionable. The pictorial form of story does not, however, inspire an appreciation for the written word or an understanding of cadence, metre or other characteristics of good literature. And it is open to question whether or not this method of presenting a tale encourages the later reading of the original, in the case of the better-known stories, or establishes a lazy habit which inclines the child to forego the more solid fare offered on the printed page.

THE MOUTH OF BABES

AN INDICATION OF THE CONDITIONS under which child actors and actresses grow up in Hollywood may be seen in the reported quotation of a 12-year-old movie queen that "there's a sort of law that kids in the movies just go out with other kids in the movies. Movie kids and just plain kids don't mix very well. I've tried it. But it doesn't work. It takes a movies boy to understand me."

Admittedly, the problem confronting the starlets' parents and the studios for which the children work is not an easy one. It is difficult to bring a child up naturally in a highly unnatural environment, and the latter is probably nowhere found in a more intense form than in Hollywood, on or off the studio sets. One wonders, thinking over the above quotation, whether the large salaries earned in the 'teen-age-and-under category are ample recompense for the contorted personalities which so frequently are an "occupational disease" of the film industry.

NOTES

Things even up. For years we are afraid our children won't do right. Then they are afraid we won't do right.

Writers shouldn't use fake names. A college professor did it, and the fake name became so famous he was unhappily jealous of it.

Letter To Sokolovsky

By JOSEPH and STEWART ALSOP
From Washington

TOWARD THE END of last month Marshal Sokolovsky, Russian pro-consul in Germany, received an interesting letter through the secret channels which connect the Soviet command in Germany with the German Communists. What makes the letter interesting is the fact that it was signed by Wilhelm Pieck and Otto Grotewohl.

Pieck is a lifetime Communist, who took part in the Spartacist revolt in 1919. Grotewohl is a renegade Socialist, who sold out to the Russians after the war. They are co-chairmen of the Russian-sponsored Socialist Unity Party, in reality the Soviet zone's Communist party. There were four other signers as well as Pieck and Grotewohl, all important but subordinate German Communists.

THE LETTER, whose contents are known to the American government, was of course written in the tone of respectful humility which Communists use when addressing their Soviet masters, and was full of protestations of loyalty. Yet it was nevertheless deeply displeasing to Sokolovsky and the rulers in the Kremlin.

For the German Communists begged Sokolovsky to end the blockade of Berlin. They stated flatly that the blockade was undermining the German Communist movement, by turning the German masses against both the Socialist fatherland and the German Community party. Discipline within the party was more and more difficult to maintain, and the party was daily losing previously loyal adherents. German Communists were good Communists, the six wrote, but they were also Germans.

SOKOLOVSKY'S response was unequivocal. Pieck and Grotewohl were hauled on the carpet and charged with "narrow nationalism" and "deviationism." They were allowed to retain their positions, perhaps because their purging would have created an unwelcome uproar. But they were warned that no repetition of such insubordination would be tolerated. And to force the point home, the four lesser Communists were carted off to jail.

Taken alone, this episode is significant enough. But what makes it more interesting is the fact that it is not an isolated incident. For within the last few days evidence has been obtained that Moscow is having very similar difficulties with the high command of the French Communist party.

EARLY LAST SUMMER burly, ham-fisted Maurice Thorez, leader of the French Communists, was hailed before a Communist kangaroo court on orders from Moscow and charged with "excessive nationalism." At the time, Thorez performed the usual Communist rite of public repentance and confession of sins. Since then, however, there have been reports that Moscow's troubles with Thorez were not over.

According to these reports, Thorez has been intriguing within the French Communist party to split his very considerable personal following away from Moscow's control, and to head a national French Communist party more or less on the Tito model. The nature of the sources of these reports, within the French party, has cast doubt on their validity.

YET VERY RECENTLY a document has been obtained which suggests, at the very least, that Thorez is distrusted by the rulers in the Kremlin. This document is a directive from the Kremlin-sponsored Cominform, successor to the Communist International, to the French Communist party. The Cominform directive orders that leadership of the French Communist party, including the duty of reporting to and receiving orders from the Cominform, is to rest henceforth with Jacques Duclos, a Stalinist theoretician generally considered No. 2 man among French Communists, and Andre Marty, a fanatical extremist who spent four years in Moscow. Thorez, although for the present he retains his titular leadership, is thus left out in the cold.

THE PARALLEL with the episode of the Pieck-Grotewohl letter is entirely obvious. Pieck and Grotewohl were moved to protest simply because Soviet policy in Germany runs directly contrary to the interests of the German Communist party, and is indeed threatening to destroy the party. In France, Thorez has always been regarded as a "moderate" Communist, who wished to build a Communist party with a mass popular base. Yet as in Germany, the mass base of the French Communists is threatened by Soviet foreign policy, which requires that French recovery be wrecked.

STALIN HIMSELF, in his recent Pravda interview, hinted that he considered the world Communist parties his great secret weapon. The weakness in Stalin's weapon is clearly the basic contradiction between national interests and the interests of the Kremlin. This weakness will surely prove fatal if the United States, by a great effort, can create conditions in which the fear of aggression by the Red Army is removed, and in which the nations of the non-Soviet world can find their way back to political stability and economic health.

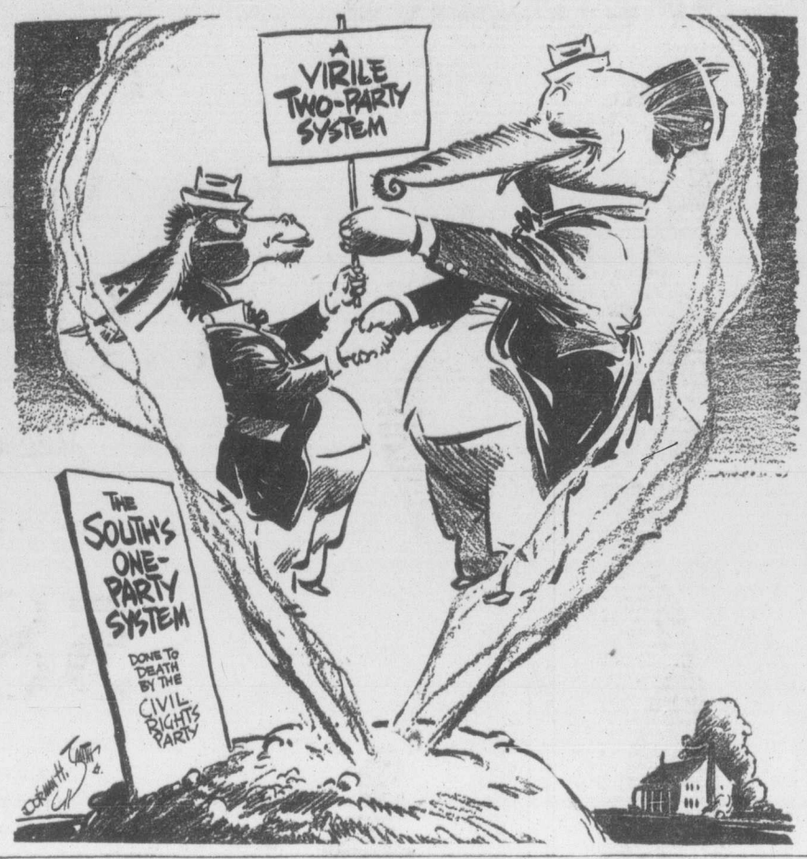
Quoting

We can have peace with honor if we will work as hard and efficiently to achieve it as we worked to wage two successful world wars.—Gov. Earl Warren of California.

Unless a woman can earn $4,000 a year—or maybe $5,000—I think it is absurd, anti-social and uneconomic for her to work outside the home.—Frances Perkins, former U.S. Secretary of Labor.

It May Be A Blessing In Disguise



Joining The A.H.O.G.O.L.

From the Montreal Star

WE have formed and are inviting candidates for membership in the Ancient and Honorable Order of Getters-Out on a Limb. Membership is open to anyone who took it for granted that Dewey would win and wrote as though he had.

LIST OF OFFICERS

For president of the society we nominate John (Kick-em-while-you-think-they're-down) O'Donnell, of the New York Daily News. In Wednesday's issue of the News he wrote:

"So what will Harry (Truman) do after January 20? We don't much care . . . The reason for the collapse of the Truman campaign was the President's lack of courage and his insincerity."

As a natural running-mate for Mr. O'Donnell, we nominate for the vice-presidency the editor of Pravda, that great truthful, well-informed journal of Moscow which on Tuesday wrote:

"There is absolutely no interest in the election. The people of the United States are apathetic."

If a second vice-president should be needed Pravda would be happy with the Communist newspaper National Zeitung of Berlin, which came out yesterday with a banner line:

"America's New President: Dewey" and a secondary line, "Truman Defeated."

BEATING THE GUN

One of the principal officers could be Henry R. Luce, editor-in-chief of Life. The magazine appeared on the newsstands here on Tuesday. On page 37 is a picture of Mr. Dewey on a ferryboat in San Francisco Bay. The caption read:

"The next President travels by ferryboat across the broad waters of San Francisco Bay."

On the adjoining page, under the heading "Quest For Unity," Life said this (on the day of voting, remember):

"If the '48 campaign has seemed to have less fireworks than usual, it is because Dewey has known all along that he would win. He also knows that the thought of being President for the next four years is in some ways an appalling thing. . . . He has also tried to define the issues in general terms with which most men can agree. This has reduced the excitement—but at some time in the next four years Americans are likely to be pretty happy that they aren't mad at one another."

Subsidiary officers could be chosen from among the pollsters who predicted a Dewey win. Leading candidate would be Elmo Roper, who gave up taking polls a couple of months ago with the statement that it was in the bag for Dewey; and Dr. George Gallup, director of the Gallup Poll which confidently predicted a Dewey win.

HOPES DASHED

And for the general membership there are 10,000 aspiring Republican post-masters in the United States, some of whom gave up good jobs in the sure and certain hope of a glorious sinecure after the election.

The heraldic device of the society suggests itself. For the motto we suggest: "Evil communications corrupt good manners."

Bradley Outlines His Policy

By JAMES THRASHER from New York

AFTER reading Gen. Omar N. Bradley's speech to the Chicago Economic Club we are convinced that General Eisenhower has a wholly worthy successor as chief of staff. Gen. Bradley's military brilliance is unquestioned. But his speech was marked by the same clear-sighted wisdom, compassionate wish for peace, and understanding of the civilian's viewpoint which have made Gen. Eisenhower the admired and trusted public figure that he is.

HIGH COSTS

Gen. Bradley acknowledged that military expenditures were high and that they competed with needs of social progress. He said that it is the people and Congress, not the military, who must make the final decision on military budgets and rearmament. At the same time he expressed the sound view that one division for the prevention of war is worth a dozen divisions for fighting a war.

Gen. Bradley noted that "there is happily a vast difference between the possibility and probability of war." But he warned that between them may lie a "twilight of tension" in which there is danger of complacency if the cold war should become a "war of boredom."

STABLE POLICY

It was encouraging to us to see that the general had bluntly labeled as "fools" those persons who talk of winning a war in a few days with new weapons, or who say "if war is to come, let it come now." And it was more encouraging to hear from a man, who has a commanding voice in military policy, a statement of what he thinks that policy should be.

We need, said Gen. Bradley, a stable, long-range foreign policy. It should be a policy that does not "respond to crises after they have erupted" and does not shift "every time a paper is rustled east of the Elbe."

Foreign policy today is badly hampered by interim uncertainty. Military policy is still hampered by disagreement among the leaders of our armed services, which seem to be "unified" more in name than in fact. Both situations give cause for some concern. So it is all the more reassuring to hear this clear and sane statement from the chief of staff, and to feel that it is being urged upon our makers of top policy.

The makers of top policy include Congress, of course, as well as the executive department. And it seems likely that Congress will have the same confidence in him that it had in his distinguished predecessors, generals Eisenhower and Marshall.

CONVINCING TALK

If the present chief of staff will talk as convincingly to Congress— and through Congress to the people—as he did to the Economic Club of Chicago, he will probably find strong backing for his wise prescription for the nation's continued welfare.

A View Behind The Curtain

From the Baltic Review

AS IN THE other two Baltic republics, the Soviets are striving to introduce the kolkhoz system in Lithuania in the face of the most determined resistance of the rural population backed by the partisans. The pressure brought to bear on the farmers is very great, as is revealed by letters smuggled out of the country. Heavy production quotas are placed on farmers. Failure to supply the required amounts results in seizure of property and deportation to Russian labor centres.

The only "foreign" correspondence the Lithuanians now may carry on with impunity are letters exchanged with deported friends and relatives. The Soviet authorities permit the deported to write home from the Urals, Lake Baikal, Sverdlovsk, Karaganda, Magnitogorsk and Krasnoyarsk. These letters are most pitiful and calculated to instill in the recipients fear of what may be in store for them.

SLAVE LABORERS

In 1934 new coal mines were opened at Vorkuta in Arctic Russia and among the two million slave laborers there are many Lithuanians, mostly intellectuals and peasants. They live in wooden barracks infested with vermin. The climate is murderous. The majority die for lack of hygiene and medicine. Even children and women are sent out to cut timber and they mostly succumb to heart trouble. The prisoners receive only three pints of water per diem—to quench their thirst, to keep themselves clean and to wash their clothes. All work and sleep in the same clothes with never a prospect of a change.

The people in Lithuania are allowed to send parcels to their deported relatives and a typical reply is the letter of a deported woman telling how her daughter is dying and her son getting weaker with every day that passes as they have no food. The letter concludes by saying: "If you can send anything, then send what you give to the chickens and pigs for here in the Urals even that is more than good."

GLOBAL SURVEY

By DeWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press News Analyst

THE ATTEMPT OF top United Nations officials to bring the Big Four together to end the dangerous Berlin crisis in the interests of general peace has failed.

It was a gallant effort on the part of Secretary-General Trygve Lie and Assembly President H. V. Evatt, but the result was a foregone conclusion. Both sides stand pat.

Russia still insists on taking up the problems of all Germany in connection with any negotiations about Berlin. The democracies refuse to negotiate unless the Russian blockade of western Berlin first is lifted.

And why won't either party give ground? The answer to that has been stated in this column time and again, but it's worth repeating in view of the development. Fundamentally it is this:

We are not dealing with a diplomatic situation. It is a state of war—a cold war, to be sure, but nevertheless a Red war of aggression.

Both sides have adopted strategic positions which they consider vital in this cold war. To give ground would be to invite defeat.

ONLY PART

The argument about Germany is only part of the war of the isms, but it is a vital part of the conflict in the European theatre. Before the second world war Germany was the economic and military keystone of continental Europe. Potentially it still is the keystone, despite the ravages of war.

Russia is playing for control of the entire Reich, which would give Moscow a mighty lever with which to pry loose western Europe for Communism. That's why the Russians won't negotiate the Berlin crisis without including the whole country. The Berlin blockade with its terrible threat of starvation for millions of civilians is too powerful a weapon for the Reds to abandon.

FROM EXPERIENCE

The democracies, on the other hand, know that if they make concessions while that murderous blockade is still in operation, they will weaken their position dangerously. From harsh past experience they know that Moscow will take advantage of any weakness and that they thus would make themselves liable to lose all Germany to Red dominion.

Personally I don't believe the U.N.'s failure to bring the opponents together increases the danger of a shooting war. It leaves things about where they were—not better, no worse.

THEY DIED OUT

Toronto Saturday Night

The 40-foot dinosaurs that once roamed our western plains died out because they were too big and cumbersome to adapt themselves to changing conditions. Big as they were, they had to be controlled from one little brain.

The same principle seems to apply to other forms of life. It is not necessarily the biggest corporation or plant or farm or government that is the best; often the body seems to outgrow the brain. Perhaps, as conditions change, the monsters of today will die out too.

A TOUGH YEAR

Montreal Star

The deepest and most heartfelt sympathy should be extended today to Col. McCormick of the Chicago Tribune, who sits disconsolate amidst the wreckage of the Illinois Republican machine. The Colonel was not a Dewey man. If the convention refused to choose McCormick, he believed it ought to choose Taft. When the convention took Dewey, he stalked out, muttering crossly, "It might have been worse. It might have been Vandenburg." Then he went home to organize victory.

Today there is no Dewey. Today his Governor-stooge, Dwight Green, finds himself retired into private life with the enthusiastic support of a large majority of the voters of Illinois. His favorite Senator Brooks, arch-isolationist, arch-reactionary, is likewise on the ash-heap, soon to be an ex-Senator. Truly 1948 has been a bad year for the Colonel.

Esquimalt Asked To Help In Repairing City's Welfare House

A request from the City Council, asking that Esquimalt share in the cost of providing repairs, alterations and improvements to Welfare House, 1234 Pandora Avenue, got no support from members of the Esquimalt Council at a meeting Tuesday night.

A letter embodying the request explained Welfare House serves as headquarters for various Greater Victoria welfare agencies and suggested, therefore, the municipalities of Esquimalt, Saanich and Oak Bay share with the city the cost of the building's upkeep.

The city owns the building but levies no charge against the present occupants.

Councillor James A. Ellis pointed out that the building concerned was very old and might warrant a considerable expenditure to put in a state of repair. He felt it would be unwise for the council to commit itself to accepting a proportionate share of the cost before it had any actual figures to go on.

Other councillors agreed on this point, and voted to turn the matter over to the solicitor for investigation.

Esquimalt Seeking Honorary Historian

Anyone who knows anything about Esquimalt's background or anyone who would like to give the matter study can find a job if he applies to the Esquimalt Council.

The only drawback is the job won't pay anything.

Councillor A. C. Wurtele brought the matter up at an Esquimalt Council meeting Tuesday night. He observed many queries were directed at the staff of the Esquimalt Municipal Hall from persons interested in the history of Esquimalt, particularly relating to its naval background.

Councillor Wurtele suggested the council appoint someone to be "Honorary Esquimalt Historian." Then, when questions come along, he said, there will be someone to give the answers.

The feeling of the other councillors was summed up in the words of Reeve A. I. Thomas, who said: "You find someone who'll do that and I'll see that he gets the honorary title of Esquimalt Historian."

To Install Drains On Craigflower Road

Installation of drains on Craigflower Road, near the intersection of Carrie Street, will be commenced at once, by order of the Esquimalt council.

The council, at its meeting Tuesday night, was informed by Councillor James A. Ellis, chairman of the works committee, that continual complaints were being received about the condition of this section of the road, particularly during wet weather.

In asking the council order action be taken to put the road in repair, he termed the present condition an emergency.

While approving of this road work, council decided not to undertake paving of Wychbury Avenue, although petitioned to carry out such work by property owners of the area.

Councillor Ellis maintained a good paving job could not be done during cold weather. He promised steps would be taken to keep the road open to traffic throughout the winter, however.

A letter from T. P. Penson was read to the council, complaining of flood conditions and dangerous trees on Munro Street and a letter from Mrs. W. Pearce asked a street light be installed on Fraser Street near Saxe Point Park.

Alberta Farmer Wheat King At Winter Fair In Toronto

TORONTO (CP) — A new world wheat king, S. J. Allsop, Red Deer, Alta., stepped into the limelight on the opening day of the Royal Winter Fair here Tuesday to take top honors in a crowded program of judging.

A capacity evening crowd of 8,500 persons was filing out of the opening night of the horse show as the news was announced that Allsop's 18 pounds of Reward hard red spring wheat had been judged best in the international competition.

Mr. Allsop, 1947 wheat king at the Chicago International Exposition, will take this year's winning exhibit to Chicago following the Toronto show in an effort to repeat his win of last year.

Official opening of the eight-day fair by Premier T. L. Kennedy was the major event of the big, colorful horse show Tuesday night.

The audience watched Canada's military jumping team lose to a smooth-riding Olympic champion pair of Mexican horsemen after a prolonged contest among French, Mexican and Canadian teams.

Haavestem's Hope, owned by H. Ready, Desford, Alta., won honors as the best shorthorn steer in the show. Another Alberta farmer, E. F. Noad, Olds, won the Hereford championship with Macleod Prince.

The opening of the fair Tuesday was marked by the presentation by R. C. Vaughan, chairman and president of the Canadian National Railways, of the new C.N.R. Challenge Trophy for the world's championship in wheat. The trophy, which is for annual competition, was received by J. A. Northey, president of the fair, on behalf of the directors.

This is the first year the C.N.R. trophy will be on display, having been received from Birks, Toronto, by the fair Tuesday morning. It is modernistic in design. The main shaft is a bronzed streamline wheat stalk, with gilt ear of wheat, rising to a height of approximately three feet. It widens at the base to show a grain train with elevator in silver, with gilt stocks of wheat at each side. The winner each year will receive a silver tray, with an engraving of the trophy on it, and a cheque of $100. Last year the trophy was won for the first time by Mrs. A. B. Kelsey, Erickson, B.C.

WIND PEELED TILE OFF BUILDING—R. P. Hansen, 998 McKaskill Street, city employee, cleans up pieces of a frontal tiling which was peeled off the northwest corner of the Belmont Building by the heavy wind gusts which lashed the tall, wide structure Tuesday afternoon.

Esquimalt Elections

Candidates for election to municipal office in Esquimalt must file their nominations papers before Dec. 9, it was announced at an Esquimalt Council meeting Tuesday night. Nomination papers must be filed at the Municipal Hall.

Saturday, Dec. 18, will be election day in the municipality and two polling places will be open. Voters whose names appear in the first section of the voters' list will vote at the Municipal Hall and voters whose names appear in the second section of the voters' list will vote at 855 Craigflower Road.

James Elrick has been named returning officer and A. E. Cave, deputy returning officer.

The DOCTOR Says:

Early Treatment of Polio Increases Chances of Cure

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.

The proper treatment of poliomyelitis requires as early a diagnosis as possible. This is not always easy because the disease really begins several days before there are any signs of paralysis. Also the symptoms during this early stage are often like those of an ordinary cold or mild infection. Furthermore a good many people have the early symptoms but never get any paralysis at all.

Experience, judgment, and skill are required to get the best results from treatment. The physician, of course, should be in charge of the treatment. Rest, relaxation, and muscular training later are important. Proper nursing care is invaluable as are measures to combat the muscle spasm which accompanies the early stages of poliomyelitis. For the latter purpose, the hot wet packs which have been so successfully employed and publicized by Miss Elizabeth Kenny have proved of great benefit. They help to relieve the pain and skin tenderness which often accompanies the disease.

SPECIAL TREATMENT NEEDED

The patient with polio who develops trouble with breathing requires special treatment with a respirator or iron lung. Of course, this is a serious complication, but many recover completely, often without any permanent paralysis at all.

A person who has an acute illness, especially at a time when poliomyelitis is around, should be placed in bed at once, regardless of how trivial the illness may appear to be. An attack of indigestion, a head cold, fever or headache, may mean the disease is developing.

The treatment of early poliomyelitis has already been much improved and will doubtless continue to be. To get the best results, however, people — especially parents—should be on the alert for early symptoms. This does not mean terrible fear over every minor illness. Even when there is a lot of polio around, most cases of indigestion and most headaches have no connection with that disease at all.

QUESTION: What causes the toenails to get thick and hard?

ANSWER: There is a possibility that the toenails are involved in some disease, though in most cases some thickening and hardening of the toenails is quite common for reasons which are not apparent, but which do not signify anything wrong.

B.C. Shows Way In Guidance For High School Students

British Columbia is a leader among the provinces of the nation in the development of counseling programs for schools, Reg. T. Rose, executive secretary of the Vancouver Board of Trade said Tuesday in an address to the Kiwanis Club.

Speaking at a meeting devoted to education and the work of the Kiwanis Club in that field, Mr. Rose stressed the added emphasis on vocational guidance at the high school level at the present time.

"We must prepare our children more than ever before for their life work. Education should not become too remote from the workaday world and our teachers should not become occupants of "ivory towers"; the speaker said.

With the specialization of modern times it is necessary that students study what they wish to become, Mr. Rose commented. He pointed out that with comptometers, adding machines and the like nowadays, technical skill was required in many jobs where formerly mental skill for rapid calculation was needed.

"Education must keep up with the changing world. We have television, nuclear fission and jet engines, for example, to challenge our young people—we must see that ample opportunity is available for them," he said.

Commenting on the average ability all possess, Mr. Rose called for an increase in the effectiveness of education, but placed the blame for apathy on the general public rather than educational officials.

Giving a few statistics, the Vancouver man reported that in a survey of workers to determine how much good they got out of school, 50 per cent said it helped them some in getting a job, but 34 per cent said it was no help at all. This last figure is too high, said Mr. Rose.

He added that an effective counseling and vocational guidance program, such as is now carried out in all Victoria high schools, does much in screening young men and women out and helping them to get placed in the most suitable positions for their respective abilities.

Controversy On Old Painting Claimed Shakespeare Portrait

LONDON (Reuter) — Playwright Clifford Bax has appealed for a respite from the flood of "pilgrims" and curiosity-seekers who have besieged his home since he claimed he had found out how William Shakespeare really looked.

Every mail brings a shower of letters—many of them argumentative missives from people who believe Sir Francis Bacon wrote the Shakespeare plays.

Strangers constantly invade the old-world peace of the Albany—a quiet cul de sac off Piccadilly in the heart of London—where, like Lord Byron and Lord Macauly before him, Bax has his home.

The top-hatted porter sizes them up on sight.

"It's about the picture of Shakespeare, I suppose? Third door on your right."

The picture of Shakespeare is the centre of a controversy between art experts and Shakespearean scholars.

Bax bought the painting for £80 ($320) from an Italian priest. On the back of the canvas is an elegant inscription in archaic Italian claiming the portrait represents "the great English poet Gulielmo Scespirio," that it was painted by Frans Hals and given to the monastery of Santo Gregorio by the Earl of Nithsdale before he died in 1744.

Inquiries made at the monastery yielded no information, most of the records having disappeared.

Art experts have decided that the painter was not Frans Hals but belonged to the school of Vandyke, contemporary with Shakespeare.

The portrait, about three feet by two, shows an old man with straggling silvery hair and the look of tormented genius on his face.

The painting shows that Shakespeare—if it is he—had lost his top teeth in old age.

Many Shakespearean scholars are convinced the man in the painting is the bard. Art experts will not commit themselves.

"When walls and ceilings in my home need repainting, I use Monaseal. Found it gives the best COVERAGE over wallpaper, kalsomine, plaster or wallboard—practically any clean wall surface in only ONE COAT . . . and EASY TO APPLY too! That's why I recommend Monaseal to my friends!"

NIEPCE WAS PIONEER IN INVENTION OF BOX CAMERA

Living at the same time as Thomas Wedgwood was a Frenchman named J. Nicephore Niepce. He entered on work with sunshine pictures 11 years later than Wedgwood, but went much farther ahead with them. He is given credit for being the first to use a camera box to take a lasting picture.

Niepce was of middle age before he started to work with photography. At about the time of his 51st birthday, he wrote this letter to his brother:

"I made an 'eye' with Isadore's ring box, a little thing of square shape. In my workroom, while facing the open window which looks on the pigeon house, I made the test.

"On the white paper, I saw the whole pigeon house. . . . I know there are many hard things left to do, especially to fix the prints, but with work and patience a person can do a great deal."

In some of his other tests, Niepce employed a cigar box with a small hole at one side. It is believed that he first used white paper coated with silver chloride to "catch" the image made by the sun's rays. Later, at the age of 64, he found better methods, as we know from another letter. He wrote:

"The discovery I have made is to produce, by the action of light, images which come into the camera. The thing I have used with best success is asphalt dissolved in oil of lavender. A thin coating of this varnish is placed on a silver-plated tablet.

"The plate can be used in the camera as soon as the varnish is dry. Even after the plate has been exposed, the future picture cannot be seen.

"The next thing to do is to bring out the hidden picture with a solvent made of 10 parts of white petroleum oil and one part of oil of lavender. The plate is plunged in this liquid, and the person looking at it begins to see the picture slowly showing its form. Then the plate is lifted out and drained, and is well washed with water."

Niepce came very close to deserving the title of "inventor of the camera," but there were pioneers before him and others who came after. One of the other pioneers was Daguerre, of whom we shall speak tomorrow.

Monkey Mothers Baby Kittens

SARASOTA, Fla. (AP)—Nobody knows where the little monkey now named Zuka, came from or where she found the two kittens she is mothering.

The first time Zuka was seen she was hanging by her tail from a high limb in a pine tree, clutching the yowling kittens to her skinny breast. Vaughn Weible lured her down with a banana. He coaxed her into a cage and put the kittens in with her.

Now they are one happy family.

Jr. League To Decorate Solarium

Plans were completed at a meeting of Queen Alexandra Solarium Junior League, held Monday evening, for members and friends to once again spend Sunday, Dec. 12, decorating the Solarium for the festive season.

Miss Iris Birchall and Mrs. Audrey Monk are directing the project which will include a gay hour or so of children's games of skill and chance, planned for the occasion by Rex Askey.

During the meeting Mrs. Betty Fraser reported that metal lockers had been purchased for purpose of storing matches and that total proceeds from match sales for October amounted to $99.86.

Reports on club expansion to other parts of the province were given by Mrs. Latzy McCullough and Mrs. Sheila Morgan; the offer of Rocky Brooks to stage a wrestling match in the Bay Street Armory on Dec. 11, for the Solarium, was accepted and Mrs. Daphne Wilkinson named convener of the affair with Miss Joan Bird as assistant.

Snow Ball tickets were distributed to members and Miss Peggy Wharton was named radio reporter.

It was decided that the Solarium Junior League would become a member of the Women's Aids to B.C. Hospitals Society.

English Girl Bride In Vancouver Rites

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Barrington Elworthy.—Photo by Harry Filion.

Just two weeks prior to her wedding day, Miss Angela Mary Poppleton arrived in Vancouver from her home in England for her marriage to Gordon Barrington Elworthy.

The bride, daughter of Capt. Richard Herbert Poppleton, R.N. (R.), London and Buenos Aires, and the late Mrs. Poppleton, and the groom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold B. Elworthy, Victoria and Vancouver, repeated their vows at St. John's Shaughnessy Church, earlier this month.

A reception was held at the home of the groom's parents following the 6 o'clock ceremony.

A distinctive frock of late afternoon formality was worn by the bride, the fabric of pale blue metallic lame.

Mr. and Mrs. Elworthy spent their honeymoon on Vancouver Island, the latter traveling in a smartly tailored plaid suit in tones of rose and turquoise on a brown background.

New York Applauds Young Canadian Skater

NEW YORK (CP)—First-night audiences in New York City are traditionally "cold." But just such an audience did an about-face last night when they saw pretty Marilyn Ruth Take skate.

The 20-year-old charmer from Toronto made her first local professional figure-skating appearance and captivated a packed house at huge Madison Square Garden. Her flashing smile and rhythmic ice ability were featured in a colorful production number of the Ice Follies show which opened Tuesday.

A former Canadian senior champion in her chosen field and a member of Canada's winter Olympics team last year, Miss Take joined the ice show late this summer in California. Weeks of hard practice followed by try-out shows on the west coast and in Chicago were climaxed with her debut in "the big city."

Wearing an eye-catching gypsy costume, the brunette Canadian highlighted a full-cast production of a Mardi Cras celebration. The exacting patterns of a gypsy dance were woven into a breath-taking skating routine which brought rounds of applause from the audience.

Even the thought of 48 gruelling weeks of travel, shows, more travel and more shows, hasn't put a damper on the spirits of the girl who placed second to Barbara Ann Scott three times before she won the Canadian women's senior competition in 1947.

"I get four weeks' holiday coming to me—and I know I'll be just anxious to get back to the show for another year," she said.

Just where does all this lead?

"Well, I've had several offers of screen tests, but I think I prefer skating to acting. I hope to stay with the show about five years and then think of settling down."

Fashion Spotlight On Capes

TORONTO (CP) — Capes are stealing the fashion spotlight at the International Wool Secretariat's style show at the Royal Winter Fair. And the fashion-wise say the cape may supply the third piece in the spring suit ensemble.

Novel cape drapings on suits, coats and dresses are featured in the show, designed to show the versatility of wool. At the opening yesterday a ballet skirt introduced woollen costumes fashioned in weights appropriate to all seasons.

But the capes stole the show. Some were long, some short, others just supplying back interest. A moderated version showed a cape draped into a collar-effect.

A splash of colored lining was added to the detachable cape, but more often the lining matched the skirt with a double-breasted jacket and outside cape in another shade of the same color.

Most interesting of the cape designs was a grey forsted gabardine suit which gave the effect of a wing-cape slung over the shoulders. Closer examination showed it to be a one-piece jacket with tailored front and a broad half-circle of material falling from a yoked-back. The cape could either be buttoned at the wrist to form arms or let swing into a graceful fold over the shoulder.

Last year's balloon-skirted suit is just a memory as designers think up new ways to disguise enough flare for walking comfort. Kick pleats and soft fullness about the knees do the trick.

Stop Beauty Contests Says Women's Council

TORONTO (CP)—Discouragement of beauty contests in Canada is urged in a resolution adopted today by the Local Council of Women.

"They do not add anything to the character of Canadian womanhood and have developed into a commercial enterprise," said the resolution, to be sent on to the National Council of Women.

Many Anaemic Women

LONDON (CP)—H. G. Kirwan-Taylor, senior obstetric surgeon at St. George's Hospital here, told a nurses' conference that since the end of the war he has "never seen so many anaemic women in my life."

He urged the health ministry to provide more milk and eggs for pregnant women, as it did during the war, and urged prospective parents to be sure they were healthy before having children.

MARRIAGE SMASHERS

That mothers-in-law are charter members of the home wrecking crew, has become such an accepted belief that probably the highest matrimonial recommendation any youth or maiden could offer would be a certificate that they arrived in the world via the stork express and had no female relatives whatsoever.

Unfortunately, there are just enough mothers-in-law who are trouble-makers, to justify this theory. There is the possessive mother who cannot bear to give up her darling little boy to any girl, and who harps upon his wife's faults until she makes Sonny feel that he has been gypped and taken in by an adventuress. And there is the bossy mother who runs her daughter's home and who decides every detail of her life, and leaves to the poor young husband no privileges, except that of paying the bills.

And there is the oracle mother-in-law who always knows best. And the interfering mother-in-law. And the mother-in-law who worms all of the family secrets out of her children and then blabs them around the neighborhood until she turns a husband and wife argument into a scandal.

BIG DIFFERENCE

But, on the other hand, there are myriads of good mothers-in-law who mind their own business, who handle their in-laws with tact, and who are an ever-present help in times of trouble. The difference between ministering angels and she-devils is no greater than that between good mothers-in-law and bad mothers-in-law.

This being true, nothing is stranger in the whole mother and child relationship than that women so seldom realize the kind of mothers-in-law they make determines, to a large extent, how their children's marriages turn out.

Boys and girls, for instance, know little about human nature. They have been in the habit of taking their opinions from Mother, and what she says about their mates still goes with them. Mama either builds up their husbands and wives or pulls them down. Many and many a marriage goes on the skids because Mother knocks the props from under it. With her fault-finding and criticisms she makes John dissatisfied with Arabella, or Sally feel that she has thrown herself away on George, and it's all over then except a decree absolute.

WAY TO SMASH MARRIAGE

Nor can anyone doubt that mothers-in-law are first aid to divorce by their helping on every squabble that husbands and wives have and turning every little sparring match into a fight to the death. Being human, every married couple are bound to have their difference of opinions and go to the mat with them on occasions. If left to themselves, they will kiss and make up and forget it. But with their respective mothers-in-law taking sides and pitying poor John because his wife is such a bum cook and weeping over Clarissa because the poor darling can't have a fur coat, they can smash a marriage into so many pieces it can never be put together again.

Also, mothers-in-law could put the divorce courts out of business by rearing their children to be good husbands and wives; to take marriage on the chin and stand by their obligations, instead of quitting cold on them; to act like intelligent adults and not spoiled brats. There is nothing in the world stranger or more pitiful than that so many parents are bringing up the kind of future husbands and wives they never want their own children to marry.

B.C. Woman's Hobby Is Clay Modeling

VANCOUVER (CP)—A graying 63-year-old woman has realized a lifelong dream and founded a career through attending an art class.

Mrs. Margaret Charlton always wanted to model clay figures.

Now her work is praised by Vancouver artists, who term some of her satirical little figures "true mood pieces."

At a class sponsored by the Community Chest, Mrs. Charlton found an expression she had sought for years.

"I'm alone in the world," she said. "I live in two little rooms, and this is something I've wanted to do all my life."

Rossland-Trail, South Okanagan Campaigns Go Into High Gear

TRAIL (CP)—The Rossland-riding of the British Columbia Legislature hummed with political activity Tuesday night as key speakers prepared for the Nov. 29 by-election.

Voterrs will name a successor to James L. Webster, Coalition member of the legislature, who died recently.

Speaking tonight on behalf of the Coalition candidate, Doug Turnbull, were Mrs. Nancy Hodges, Victoria member, and Public Works Minister E. C. Carson.

Mrs. Hodges said imposition of the 3 per cent sales tax had enabled the government to announce a 15 per cent increase in mothers' allowances.

The public works minister told the gathering $20,000,000 had been spent for public works during the last four years, including $8,000,000 on road maintenance.

At a second by-election campaign meeting here, Sam Guthrie, C.C.F. member for Cowichan-Newcastle, spoke in support of C.C.F. candidate James Quinn and outlined what he called "damning indictments" against the present system of government.

He scored the Coalition government for permitting export of 61 per cent of its forest products because greater profits could be made by selling outside of Canada.

H. W. Herridge, C.C.F. member of the Commons for Kootenay West, also spoke.

OKANAGAN MEETINGS

KELOWNA, B.C. (CP) — The "Big Guns" of both the Coalition government and the C.C.F. were en route to the South Okanagan constituency as the political pot neared boiling point this week.

The South Okanagan seat was vacated by W. A. C. Bennett, unsuccessful Progressive Conservative candidate in the Yale federal by-election. Polling is set for Nov. 29.

Hon. E. C. Carson, minister of public works, and Hon. R. C. MacDonald, minister of municipal affairs, launched the campaign for the Coalition with speeches throughout the riding last week, while this week Hon. G. S. Pearson, minister of labor, is scheduled to make a number of addresses.

Next week, Premier Byron Johnson and Hon. Herbert Anscomb, Progressive-Conservative leader and minister of finance, will speak in Kelowna, Nov. 24, and at various other points during the remainder of the week.

Harold Winch, C.C.F. leader of the opposition in the provincial House, will make a series of campaign addresses — one in Kelowna Nov. 19. Hon. C. M. Fines, Saskatchewan's provincial secretary, and O. L. Jones, Yale member of parliament, will also open a speaking tour the latter part of the week.

The Coalition forces have been fighting the election based on their seven-year record. The C.C.F. however, maintains the social legislation enacted by the government does not go far enough.

The candidates in South Okanagan, with polling set for Nov. 29, are: R. D. Browne-Clayton, Coalition, and Bruce Woodsworth, C.C.F.

Bill To Nationalize Steel In Britain Strongly Debated

LONDON (CP) — Opposition Leader Winston Churchill Tuesday denounced the Labor government's bill to nationalize Britain's iron and steel industry as "a plot . . . an operation in restraint of trade."

The Conservative chieftain roared into the attack in the House of Commons on the second day of a three-day debate on the measure with which the government expects to conclude its public ownership program for the present term of office.

"This is not a bill," said Churchill amid cheers from the opposition benchers.

"It is not a plan of increased production but rather in effect an operation in restraint of trade. It is not a plan to help our patient, struggling people, but a jemmy to crash the capitalist crib."

J. H. Jones, parliamentary secretary to the Ministry of Supply and a Labor Party veteran, replied to Churchill. He said the bill gave an opportunity for full efficiency in the industry because in the future efficiency "will literally be everybody's business."

DECLARED NEEDED

The bill had been presented on a basis of the country's need, "not on that of individual greed." It gave an opportunity to integrate the whole of Britain's basic industries.

The bill provides for nationalizing the larger steel plants but leaves the smaller undertakings in private hands.

There was an uproar Tuesday night when Churchill shouted at Sir Stafford Cripps, Chancellor of the Exchequer:

"We are not scared of your revolution."

Defending the bill, Sir Stafford declared social democracy is "the true barrier against communism" and would prevent changes being "brought about by other and more violent means."

It was then that Churchill shouted out.

He was also understood to have said "you must not threaten revolution like that."

The Chancellor said the bill was not a question as between uncontrolled private enterprise and national ownership but between private or public control of a vital industry.

British Commons Hails New Prince

LONDON (CP) — Britain's party leaders Tuesday laid aside political quarrels in Parliament to congratulate Princess Elizabeth on the birth of a son who may some day be King.

The resolution was adopted without dissent.

Even Willie Gallacher, Communist member for Western Fife, responding to the government's formal resolution in the House of Commons, declared: "I will make no adverse comment."

But in Northern Ireland, Nationalist members of the Ulster House of Commons walked out rather than vote on a similar resolution offered by Prime Minister Sir Basil Brooke. It was adopted in their absence.

Flier Delayed

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP)—Mrs. Richard Morrow-Tait, British round-the-world flier, was held here again today by engine trouble. She said she hoped to be able to take off with her navigator tomorrow for Whitehorse, Y.T. The globe-girdling plane arrived here last Friday.

Criticizes Plan For Southwest Africa

PARIS (Reuter)—Mrs. Vijaya Lakshmi Pandit, Indian delegate to the United Nations, told the trusteeship committee Tuesday that the South African government's plan to incorporate Southwest Africa is "a clear and flagrant violation" of the United Nations Charter.

Mrs. Pandit introduced a resolution which called on South Africa to halt its incorporation plan and to submit annual reports on the territory to the U.N.

Eric Louw, South African minister of mines, had said earlier that Soviet charges of "oppression and tyranny" in Southwest Africa were "utter nonsense."

Over-Seas League

A general meeting of the Victoria Branch of the Over-Seas League will be held at the Officers' Mess, Work Point Barracks, Nov. 23, at 2.30, to formulate plans for further activities. Notifications have already been sent by post to all members registered with the local branch. The attendance is also requested of members who may not yet have re-registered.

Following the general meeting, E. H. Scott, who has recently returned from England will show his colored film, "England Today."

Commons To Hear Nfld. Petition

LONDON (Reuter) — Peter Cashin, a former Newfoundland finance minister, said Tuesday that a petition signed by more than 50,000 Newfoundlanders—35 per cent of the electorate—would be presented at the bar of the House of Commons next week as a protest against the pending confederation of Newfoundland with Canada.

Cashin, one of three representatives of the Newfoundland Responsible Government Association who are here to present the petition, said the petition demands restoration of self-government in Newfoundland.

De Valera Demands Ulster Plebiscite

CAMBRIDGE, Eng. (Reuter)—Eamon de Valera, former Prime Minister of Eire, Tuesday night demanded a plebiscite for the people of Northern Ireland to decide whether they wish to join Eire or remain part of the United Kingdom.

De Valera, Chancellor of the National University of Ireland, spoke in a Cambridge Union debate. The motion in favor of reunification of Ireland was rejected by 542 to 236 votes.

LANGFORD MEETINGS

LANGFORD — Representatives of the Sooke School District health committee will give reports to the annual meetings of ratepayers in the area. Mrs. G. T. Hayes will give the report at Metchosin Wednesday night; Mrs. D. De Rochie, Milne's Landing High School, Friday; Mrs. J. Elliott at Shirley, Nov. 22; Mrs. H. A. Hincks at Langford, Nov. 24.

Says 'Independent' Red Unions Menace Trades, Labor Group

MONTREAL (CP) — Robert Hewitt of Winnipeg, vice-president of the Brotherhood of Railway Carmen, said today that independent unions, many of them Communist-dominated, are threatening to gain control of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada.

On union business in Montreal, Mr. Hewitt said in an interview: "International unions affiliated with the American Federation of Labor are threatened with the loss of their voting majority in the T.L.C. to national unions. These, in many cases, are Communist-controlled."

Toronto union leaders who claimed international unions should carry out their own Communist purges were suggesting a plan "plausible as far as it goes."

"The main Communist strength, however, is not in the international unions but in national and federal unions not affiliated with the A.F.L."

Mr. Hewitt said he and Frank Hall, vice-president of the Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Clerks, are "worried about the present trend in the T.L.C. toward national and federal unions."

Students Receive Awards For Essays

Six students of the lower Island area were presented with cash awards for their essays on an original studies of job opportunities in British Columbia at the Kiwanis Club luncheon at the Empress Hotel Tuesday.

The essay contest, sponsored by the B.C. Products Bureau and the Vancouver Board of Trade, who put up $2,850 in prize money, was started three years ago with awards of $75, $50 and $25 being given to the top three entrants in 19 school districts throughout the province.

In making the presentations, Jack Melville, chairman of the bureau, praised the efforts of students, noting that some of the original studies were of large and complicated industries such as pulp and paper and were, in many cases, more than 10,000 words in length — quite an achievement for high and junior high school youngsters.

Those receiving awards at the Tuesday gathering were Margaret Witham, Duncan High; Margaret Wishart, Esquimalt High; Barbara Oakley, Mount View High; Jean Creighton, Victoria High; Mona Caley, Esquimalt; High; and Geoffrey Conway, Central Junior High School.

Called Wildcat Strike

VANCOUVER (CP)—International Woodworkers of America (C.I.O.) officials here today termed a strike of loggers at the Iron River Logging Company at Oyster Bay, Vancouver Island, a "wildcat" strike. They claimed it had been instigated by the rebel Woodworkers' Industrial Union of Canada.

Kiwanians To Aid Counseling Work

The Kiwanis Club of Victoria will give practical help to high school students trying to decide what vocation they wish to follow.

Tom Denny, chairman of the club's educational committee, announced at Tuesday's luncheon meeting that 15 general classifications, each covering a number of specific occupations, have been set up and members will be placed in the various classes according to their positions.

In conjunction with high school counselors, students will then be given an opportunity to have an informal chat with the man in the business or trade in which they are interested in order that they may get a practical picture of conditions.

It is felt that this program will do much to assist students in deciding on what future training and education is necessary and whether or not they would be suited for the position.

Remembrance Services In Langford Church

LANGFORD—Members of the Prince Edward Branch No. 91 Canadian Legion and Women's Auxiliary attended Remembrance Day Service Sunday morning in St. Matthew's Church here.

The memorial pulpit was draped with the Union Jack and a large poppy wreath was placed on the altar steps. Rev. H. J. Jones spoke on "Remembrance." Mrs. Roy Fraser provided the music.

XI

While the summer and fall fighting was in full swing we received word that the President and the Prime Minister and their staffs were preparing to hold another joint meeting, this time near Cairo. Egype was not then within the limits of our theatre, but aside from insuring safe passages through our area we were called upon to provide secure places for preliminary meetings and for the accommodation of individuals.

Mr. Churchill, as always, was entertaining and interesting. I have never met any one else so capable at keeping a dinner gathering on its toes. His comments on events and personalities were pointed and pungent, often most amusing. He looked forward with great enthusiasm to his meeting with the President, from whom, he said, he always drew inspiration for tackling the problems of war and of the later peace.

He dwelt at length on one of his favorite subects—the importance of assailing Germany through the "soft underbelly," of keeping up the tempo of our Italian attack and extending its scope to include much of the northern shore of the Mediterranean. He seemed always to see great and decisive possibilities in the Mediterranean, while the project of invasion across the English Channel left him cold. How often I heard him say, in speaking of Overlord prospects: "We must take care that the tides do not run red with the blood of American and British youth, or the beaches be choked with their bodies."

Balkans, Gallipoli In Churchill's Mind?

I could not escape a feeling that Mr. Churchill's views were unconsciously colored by two considerations that lay outside the scope of the immediate military problem. I had nothing tangible to justify such a feeling—I know, though, that I was not alone in wondering occasionally whether these considerations had some weight with him.

The first of them was his concern as a political leader for the future of the Balkans. For this concern I had great sympathy, but as a soldier I was particularly careful to exclude such considerations from my own recommendations.

The other was an inner compulsion to vindicate his strategical concepts of World War I, in which he had been the principal exponent of the Gallipoli campaign. Many professionals agreed that the Gallipoli affair had failed because of bungling in execution rather than through mistaken calculations of its possibilities. It sometimes seemed that the Prime Minister was determined in the second war to gain public acceptance of this point of view.

I was called upon shortly to go meet the President, who was arriving by ship at Oran. At Oran we transferred Mr. Roosevelt to a plane and took him to a villa on the seashore in Tunisia, which by coincidence was locally known as the "White House." At that time the President seemed in good health and was optimistic and confident. He stayed over an extra day in Tunisia in order to visit battlefields of that area.

Identifying Battlefield With Thatt Of Zama

While traveling through them he speculated upon the possible identity of our battlefields with those of ancient days, particularly with that of Zama. So far as either the President or I knew, that battlefield had never been positively identified by historians, but we were certain, because of the use of elephants by the Carthaginians, that it was located on the level plains rather than in the mountains, where so much of our own fighting took place. The President's liking for history and his frequent reference to it always gave an added flavor to conversation with him on military subjects. The same was true of George Patton and the Prime Minister.

I wandered off to inspect some burnt-out tanks while the President and his Wac driver had their lunch. When I returned he remarked, "Ike, if, one year ago, you had offered to bet that on this day the President of the United States would be having his lunch on a Tunisian roadside, what odds could you have demanded?"

This thought apparently directed his mind to the extraordinary events of the year just past. He told me, first, what a disappointment it had been to him that our African invasion came just after, instead of just before, the 1942 elections. He spoke of Darlan, of Boisson and Giraud. He talked of Italy and Mussolini and of the uneasiness he had felt during the Kasserine affair. He told of instances of disagreement with Mr. Churchill, but earnestly and almost emotionally said, "No one could have a better or sturdier ally than that old Tory!""

Mr. Roosevelt seemed to be enjoying himself sincerely, but his reminiscences were interrupted by a Secret Service man who approached to say, "Mr. President, we've been here longer than I like. We should go on now." The President grinned and said to me, "You are lucky you don't have the number of bosses I have."

To give General Marshall and Admiral King some release from the restrictions that inevitably accompany travel with a Presidential party I invited the two of them to stay at my little cottage in Carthage. Both were outspokenly delighted to have the opportunity for a quiet evening, and both seemed to me to be in splendid health and spirits. In a before-dinner conversation Admiral King brought up the subject of future command of Overlord.

Brooke Loses Out In 'Overlord' Command

He said that in early discussions between the President and the Prime Minister it had apparently been agreed that a British officer would be named to the post, possibly because an American was already commanding in the Mediterranean. Later, when the President came to realize that American strength in Overlord would eventually predominate over British, he decided that public opinion would demand an American commander. He so informed the Prime Minister, who agreed although the agreement cost him some personal embarrassment because he had already promised Alan Brooke the command.

At the same time the President had suggested to Mr. Churchill that acceptance of this arrangement would logically throw the Mediterranean command to the British, where British Empire forces would be expected to provide the bulk of the ground and naval strength. The President had tentatively decided, King said, to give the Overlord command to Marshall, against the urgent and persistent advice of King and others who dreader the consequences of Marshall's withdrawal from the Combined Chiefs of Staff.

While the Prime Minister had spoken of this matter a few days earlier at Malta, this was the first time I had heard any American discuss the Overlord command, except on the basis of rumor and speculation. Admiral King's story agreed in such exact detail with what the Prime Minister had told me that I accepted it as almost official notice that I would soon be giving up field command to return to Washington.

Don't Monkey With A Winning Team—F.D.R.

On the morning following my talk with Admiral King, the President spoke briefly to me about the future Overlord command and I came to realize, finally, that it was a point of intense official and public interest back home. He did not give me a hint as to his final decision except to say that he dreaded the thought of losing Marshall from Washington.

But he added, "You and I know the name of the Chief of Staff in the Civil War, but few Americans outside the professional services do."

He then added, as if thinking aloud, "But it is dangerous to monkey with a winning team." I answered nothing except to state I would do my best wherever the government might find use for me.

On the second day the President and his party departed for Cairo, leaving personal orders with me to join the conference in that city within two or three days. Accompanied by my principal commanders, except for Alexander, who was ill, we proceeded to Cairo to present our views concerning the forces in the Mediterranean.

So far as there was discernible any difference between the professional views of the British and American groups it appeared to me and to my associates at the Cairo conference that the British still favored a vigorous and all-out prosecution of the Mediterranean campaign even, if necessary, at the expense of additional delay in launching Overlord; while the Americans declined to approve anything that would detract from the strength of the attack to be delivered across the Channel early in the following summer.

The Prime Minister and some of his chief military advisers still looked upon the Overlord plan with scarcely concealed misgivings; their attitude seemed to be that we could avoid the additional and grave risks implicit in a new amphibious operation by merely pouring into the Mediterranean all the air, ground, and naval resources available. They implied that by pushing the Italian campaign, invading Yugoslavia, capturing Crete, the Dodecanese, and Greece, we would deal the Germans a serious blow without encountering the admitted dangers of the full-out effort against northwest Europe.

Eisenhower's Staff Insist On 'Overlord'

My own staff, including its British members, and I continued to support the conclusions reached a year and a half previously that only in the cross-Channel attack would our full strength be concentrated and decisive results achieved.

Because, later, the landing in Normandy was successfully accomplished without abnormal loss, it is easy to ignore the very real risks and dangers implicit in the plan. Had we encountered there a disastrous reverse, those who now criticize the concern with which some looked forward to the prospect would have been loudest in condemning the others who insisted upon the validity of the plan.

One thing that opponents feared was a repetition of the trench warfare of World War I. The British had vivid and bitter memories of Passchendaele and Vimy Ridge. None of us wanted any repetition of those experiences.

Moreover, the Dieppe raid of the summer of 1942 did not promise any easy conquest of the beaches themselves. That raid, carried out by a strong force of Canadians, had resulted in a high percentage of losses. From it we learned a number of lessons that we later applied to our advantage, but the price paid by the Canadians still rankled.

Mindful of such past experiences, a number of persons, among them some Americans, were moved to consider the wisdom of avoiding the risks of a Channel crossing and, instead, to push the Italian and other campaigns in the Mediterranean to the limit of Allied ability.

However, I never at any time heard Mr. Churchill urge or suggest complete abandonment of the Overlord plan. His conviction, so far as I could interpret it, was that at some time in the indefinite future the Allies would have to cross the Channel. But he seemed to believe that our attack should be pushed elsewhere until the day came when the enemy would be forced to withdraw most of his troops from northwest Europe, at which time the Allies could go in easily and safely.

Cairo Conference Agrees On 'Overlord'

My own recommendation, then as always, was that no operation should be undertaken in the Mediterranean except as a directly supporting move for the Channel attack and that our planned redeployment to England should proceed with all possible speed. Obviously a sufficient strength had to be kept in the Mediterranean to hold what we had already gained and to force the Nazis to maintain sizable forces in that area.

This was the program adopted by the Cairo Conference, and our shipment of troops and equipment to England continued without abatement. The psychological value of the capture of Rome was, however, emphasized to us, particularly by the Prime Minister.

Again I had an opportunity for private talks with the President, at one of which he informally presented me with the Legion of Merit, His conversation revolved more around postwar problems than those of immediate operations. He gave me his ideas on the post-hostilities occupation of Germany and listened sympathetically to my contention that occupation should become a responsibility of civil agencies of government as soon as the exigencies of war might permit.

He mentioned domestic politics only to say that, much as he'd like to go back to private life, it looked as if he'd have to stand again for the Presidency.

One evening General Marshall asked me with some others to dinner. It was a splendid American dinner with turkey and all that goes with it. As the guests were leaving, one said to General Marshall, "Thank you very much for a fine Thanksgiving dinner." I turned around in complete astonishment and said, "Well, that shows what war does to a man. I had no idea this was Thanksgiving Day."

In December, 1943, General Eisenhower flew to Tunis from Italy to see President Roosevelt, who was on his way home from the Cairo conference, and was told for the first time that he was to command "Overlord," the great cross-Channel invasion of Europe.

How this decision was reached is described in the 12th installment of "Crusade in Europe" which will be published in the Victoria Daily Times tomorrow. General Eisenhower also describes the strategy of the Anzio landing in Italy and Prime Minister Churchill's determination to carry it out in spite of warnings that it was a risky affair.

AT CAIRO CONFERENCE—General Dwight D. Eisenhower, commander of the Allied Forces in North Africa and Italy, and General George C. Marshall, right, U.S. Army Chief of Staff, spoke with an unidentified American officer, left, during a lull in the historic Cairo Conference.

HONORING IKE—President Roosevelt awards the Legion of Merit medal to General Eisenhower. The chief executive decorated "Ike" during a stopover in his trip to the conferences at Cairo and Teheran.

ATLAS THEATRE

At the age of 61 Russell Janney turned novelist, bringing to mind William De Morgan who startled the publishing world with a first novel at 65. But Janney has been writing since his youth; lyrics for revues, short stories for the Smart Set of Mencken and Nathan, press agent copy for Theda Bara, George Arliss, Otis Skinner and many another star of the last 30 years. Russell Janney first conceived "The Miracle of the Bells," now showing at the Atlas Theatre, as a short story about protracted bell-ringing for a funeral. The short story grew to a quarter of a million words—a spacious novel crowded with life histories of characters.

PLAZA THEATRE

A business career that came to a disastrous end was the beginning of a highly successful venture into the field of entertainment by Gibb McLaughlin. This veteran actor, who plays the leading role in the Alliance picture, "Mystery of Room 13," now at the Plaza Theatre, got a job as a clerk in a store. However, he had the unhappy faculty of aping his customers and, one day, a pompous dowager caught him mocking her; promptly reported him to the department manager and, since the customer is always right, Gibb McLaughlin was fired.

ROYAL THEATRE

Cary Grant, as Mr. Blandings, in RKO's new hit production "Mr. Blandings Builds His Dream House," dreams about a house in the country, but finds bills running higher as his hopes become a reality. His fantasy haunts him to a point where he neglects his work and is in danger of losing his job. Myrna Loy, as his wife, sticks by him.

Lupino, Glenn Ford Interview Each Other For Press

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Film stars are the most interviewed people in the world. So it was inevitable that a couple would break under the strain.

When Ida Lupino and Glenn Ford were approached on the "Bonanza" set, they broke into the open field and started interviewing each other—with the expert touch of the cliche born of long practice.

Here's the result:

Ford: What do you dislike about actors?

Lupino: When they behave like actors off the set. You know, the two actors I've really enjoyed working with are you and Richard Widmark.

Ford: I'm probably sticking my neck out, but the only two really fine actresses I've worked with are you and Bette Davis. This sounds like a mutual admiration society. Would you like to work for a woman director?

Lupino: No, I'd rather work for a man. I like the directness of a man. Women are indirect creatures. What do you like most in women?

Ford: I don't know. I guess it's a sense of humor. What do you like most in a man?

Lupino: Tenderness. What irritates you most about women?

ALL WONDERFUL

Ford: Nothing. They're wonderful.

Lupino: Not even lipstick stains in coffee cups?

Ford: No. What do you dislike about men?

Lupino: Laziness.

Ford: Should an actress love the actor in love scenes?

Lupino: Naturally — for the moment. After all, the actor becomes the character she is in love with. Do you like women to pick out your ties?

Ford: No. I like my pipe and slippers set out at home, but not my clothes. Do you like fans?

Lupino: Of course. They give me my bread and butter. What has shaken you recently?

Delegates Silent On Discussion Of Eireanns' Future

PARIS (CP)—The Eire delegation today clamped a rigid security curtain over talks with representatives of Britain, Canada, Australia and New Zealand on the future position of Eire in the Commonwealth.

Emerging from a two-hour parley in the tapestried conference room of the Palais Chaillot, Foreign Minister Sean MacBride of Eire told reporters: "We're not talking—that's all."

It was understood the Eire delegation is perturbed by published reports on what the delegation wants to accomplish here.

The subject under discussion is the exact status of Eireann citizens residents in the British Commonwealth after Eire has severed her last link with the British Crown by the repeal of the External Relations Act, expected tomorrow.

MacBride said Monday that Eire's secession was almost an accomplished fact.

STUDY FINDINGS

It was learned here that the meeting would go through the findings of the law officers of the Crown on the consequences of Eire leaving the Commonwealth.

What these detailed findings were was not made known, but it was made clear they covered:

1. People born in Eire and now working in Britain and enjoying British status would become aliens, with all the consequences involved.

2. Eire would automatically lose her preferential position inside the Commonwealth with regard to trade.

127 Island Vets Helped By Loans

A total of $212,900 has been borrowed by 127 Vancouver Island veterans since the end of the war up to Oct. 20 this year under the Veterans' Business and Professional Loans Act, S. H. Okell, assistant district administrator of the Department of Veterans' Affairs here, said Tuesday.

Only 12 applicants out of 139 have been refused. Loans are made directly through chartered banks at an interest rate of 5 per cent, but all loans must be first approved by the D.V.A. This approval is merely to confirm that an applicant is a bona fide veteran who has not already benefited under the Veterans' Land Act.

Breakdown of total borrowings for the Island shows $41,219.33 used to purchase businesses; $82,719.14 to enter partnership businesses; $30,296.40 for purchase of business machinery and tools; $10,190 for purchase of buildings and $47,525.05 for purchase of motorized equipment.

Mr. Okell praised the banks for their co-operation, adding that they had contributed much to rehabilitating veterans.

YORK THEATRE

Rarely, if ever, have Hollywood movie makers ever devoted more attention to a single actor than was granted Christopher Olsen during the filming of Twentieth Century-Fox's "The Iron Curtain."

Christopher, who is all of fifteen months old, and plays Dana Andrews and Gene Tierney's son in the film now at the York Theatre, couldn't understand why he had to do the same thing over and over again. As a result, Director William A. Wellman had to keep three cameras rolling to catch the right action in a minimum of "takes."

SMYTHE RE-ELECTED

TORONTO (CP)—Conn Smythe was re-elected president and general manager of Maple Leaf Gardens at a meeting of the shareholders Tuesday. There was only one change on the 21-man board of directors. Larkin Maloney replaced Alfred Rogers.

CAPITOL THEATRE

After testing 25 actresses to play the role of the Indian maid who makes eyes at Jack Carson in "Two Guys From Texas," now being shown at the Capitol Theatre, Warner Bros. took a quick look in their own back yard and found just the ticket.

Cleatus Caldwell, wife of Warner star, Bob Hutton, and Miss America of 1940, was signed for the role in the Dennis Morgan-Jack Carson Technicolor musical, after the order had gone out from the office of producer Alex Gottleib to "get the most beautiful girl you can find."

Cleatus, besides being one of the most beautiful girls in the world, had the edge on most other aspirants, being an Oklahoma-born part Indian.

2 Saanich Ward Contests Assured

Councillor Thomas F. Alexander, six-year representative of Ward 1 on the Saanich Council, will seek re-election to assure the second ward contest in the December 18 Saanich elections.

Mr. Alexander reported he would seek to hold the seat yesterday after the nomination of William E. Bond, 1197 Palmer Road, for the Ward 1 position had been announced.

To date one other contest has been assured. This is in Ward 4. Councillor E. C. Cummins will seek re-election. Alexander Kilpatrick and Albert E. Hull make up the opposition.

Mr. Alexander hopes to see the new lighting system recently installed in the southern portion of his ward, which he was instrumental in having approved by the ratepayers involved, extended to the other wards of the municipality. The new lighting system has 96 lights.

He wants to see the ward system abolished, is a pro-airpark man on the council. Nomination of Mr. Bond was sponsored by the Mayfair Heights ratepayers, an anti-airpark group.

Councillor W. C. Kersey announced yesterday he would seek re-election as Ward 6 council representative. He is a five-year member of the municipal group. Mr. Kersey favors amalgamation of the inner wards with Victoria. He thinks it is inevitable. The councillor is the strongest supporter of an airpark on Gordon Head property, is opposed to wiping out the wards.

Every Effort To Aid Saanich Irrigation

Premier Byron Johnson has told Arthur Ash, Saanich M.L.A., who last week suggested the provincial government seek federal aid for an irrigation scheme for Saanich Peninsula, that he could be assured that every effort would be made to bring about a solution of the problem.

In a letter replying to Mr. Ash's submission Mr. Johnson said:

"This is to acknowledge receipt of your letter of Nov. 2 and to say how much I appreciate the careful study you have given to the question of irrigation for the Saanich Peninsula. Please be advised this is a matter which is uppermost in my mind and you may be assured that every effort will be made to bring about a solution to this problem."

Issue Writ Against Councillor At North Cowichan

A writ has been issued in Supreme Court against Councillor A. E. Beasley of North Cowichan council by the council, claiming $2,500 damages under section 26 of the Municipal Act, and such further penalties as might be awarded under section 27 of the act.

Councillor A. E. Beasley has resigned his seat.

Council took action on the advice of its solicitor, R. D. Harvey, K.C., after it was alleged that Councillor Beasley had business dealings with the municipality. It was alleged that he contravened sections 26 and 27 of the Municipal Act, with the first section providing a penalty of $2,500 for a councillor entering into a contract with the municipality he represents. The second section provides a penalty of $50 for a councillor who disqualifies himself in this manner for each time the elected representative continues to sit in the council.

C. P. Deykin, Quamichan Lake resident, asked Councillor Beasley, a Chemainus hardware merchant, to resign at a meeting earlier this month because of an alleged infraction of the act.

Council accepted Mr. Beasley's resignation at a meeting Friday.

View Royal Elects H. B. Stevens

View Royal Community Association re-elected H. B. Stevens at its annual meeting in View Royal Community Hall.

Also elected were: Mrs. M. Westwood, secretary; C. A. Pope, treasurer, and Mrs. T. W. Simpson, C. B. Clifford, H. P. Gibson, Percy Foreman, C. Cannon and E. A. Greenlaugh, directors. A net surplus of $224 was reported by regional directors for the year.

Directors told the association of a meeting with Austin I. Curtis, chairman of the Greater Victoria School Board, at which Mr. Curtis said it was expected that the Education Act would be amended so that a rural area in a large municipal school district would be able to nominate persons for school trustee and vote on the candidates for trustee.

The area would have to be attached in some way to a voters' list in one of the municipalities in the Greater Victoria area, Mr. Curtis told directors.

Gales End With Toll Of 6 Lives, 3 Sinkings, Widespread Damage

Gales ended, a battered North Pacific coast today prepared to repair damage wrought by 72 hours of intermittent lashing by raging winds which claimed six lives, sank three tugs and isolated a Vancouver Island community of 10,000 persons.

Three Vancouver men were lost late Tuesday when the 80-foot tug St. Clair piled up on the rocks near Port San Juan on the west coast of Vancouver Island.

Dead are Chief Engineer Carl Jensen, Mate James Hudson and Levi Arnott, the cook. Six other members, including Capt. Stanley Bell, made shore in a lifeboat.

Two Seattle men were missing and believed dead from a tug which sank in Puget Sound, and the sixth victim was a seaman who died of a heart attack during a rescue operation off the mouth of the Columbia River.

The twin centres of Port Alberni and Alberni were isolated until early today when an E. and N. Railway train pulled in more than seven hours late after being delayed by trees and roots across the tracks. A landslide in Sunday's gale caused a landslide which cut highway communications to the community.

A freighter with 16 men aboard broke its tow at the mouth of Columbia River but managed to anchor 15 miles off the coast.

MAQUINNA USES ANCHOR

Ss. Princess Maquinna was forced to let go her bow anchor to turn in the harbor as she left her dock here for Vancouver.

Amateur radio operators in the mainland city reported distress calls from the town of Squamish, 40 miles north of Vancouver. The town's 1,000 inhabitants were reported anxious because regular-calling coastal vessels had not shown up.

A lightship off the northwestern tip of Washington State lost its anchor and was forced to head for shelter, leaving the dangerous Cape Flattery area without a navigation aid.

DAMAGE IN CITY

As light winds brushed over the storm-swept Greater Victoria district today, weather officials reported the long series of gales had first begun at 10 last Saturday evening, continuing through Sunday until about 6 in the evening. After dying down for a time, the winds built up again about 10 on Monday evening and blew right through Tuesday, reaching its peak of 74 miles an hour with gusts of 84 miles an hour at 2 in the afternoon. At 10.30 Tuesday night, the gale was a sou'wester blowing 46 miles an hour with gusts up to 56. The winds began decreasing toward midnight and this morning were down to southwest 10.

Over 45 Problem Slated For Airing At Convention

The problem of the hiring of persons over 45 years of age by the provincial government is slated for a full-dress debate at the annual convention of the B.C. Provincial Government Employees' Association to be held in Vancouver Nov. 19 and 20, it was learned today.

The convention, among the 93 resolutions it will consider, will discuss resolutions calling for the abolishing of the clause in the B.C. Civil Service Act which prohibits the employment of men other than war veterans who are more than 45 years of age and women other than war veterans who are more than 40.

Another resolution calls for the extension of the retirement age for women to 65 years from the current 60 years.

Other resolutions ask:

1. Examinations for all employees as a basis for their receiving permanent government appointments.

2. Granting wounded war veterans permission to retire five years prior to their regular retirement age.

3. Equal pay for male and female members of the government service employed in similar work.

4. A livable superannuation for retirement members of the service.

H. Gordon Moore, Victoria, president of the association, reported that many other resolutions to be presented to the association's convention deal with reorganization within the association which has increased its membership during the past year by almost 2,000. The association now claims 5,500 members.

Among these resolutions one calling for zones among the association's 36 branches is expected to be one of the more contentious issues.

It is also expected, said Mr. Moore's statement, that the convention will go on record as urging the government to maintain unemployment insurance books for all non-permanent employees instead of only those who possess books at the time of employment. The convention may also ask the government to establish standard rates of pay for casual labor employed in similar work regardless of the department concerned.

J. V. Fisher, deputy finance minister; Dr. H. M. Morrison, chairman of the Civil Service Commission, and R. A. Pennington, superannuation commissioner, are expected to address the convention.

Arrangements have been made for a banquet on the night of Nov. 19 at which Mayor and Mrs. George Miller of Vancouver, R. K. Gervin, secretary of the Vancouver, New Westminster and District Trades and Labor Council, W. M. Black, president of the Joint Council of Public Employees, and others will be guests of honor.

The Victoria branch of the association, the largest of the 36 branches, will send 14 delegates to the convention. Attendance at the convention is expected to top 90.

Premier To Head Delegation To Ottawa On Canadian Highway

British Columbia will send a three-man delegation to the Dominion-Provincial conference to be held in Ottawa Dec. 14 to discuss the Trans-Canada Highway, it was learned today.

The delegation will be headed by Premier Byron Johnson who may go to Ottawa earlier to attend the final hearing Dec. 8 of the Board of Transport Commissioners on the application of B.C. for removal of the mountain differential freight rate. Accompanying Mr. Johnson to the Trans-Canada Highway conference will be Works Minister E. C. Carson and Harry Anderson, chief engineer of the provincial works department.

Date of the meeting was announced Tuesday by the federal Resources Minister J. A. McKinnon.

At the same time it was reported that Dr. J. F. Walker, deputy mines minister for B.C., and Dr. T. B. Williams, controller of coal, petroleum and natural gas, are expected to attend Ottawa meetings of the Dominion Coal Board.

High Voltage Line Withstands Gale In First Real Test

The B.C. Power Commission's year-old high voltage transmission line from the John Hart Development at Campbell River to Nanaimo and Port Alberni successfully withstood its first real test against the elements during Tuesday's gale.

S. R. Weston, commission chairman, said today that there was no interruption whatsoever on the 105 miles of 138,000-volt line strung on 80-foot steel towers.

"We are pleased with the result of the first real test put to the line," he said, "it speaks well for those who constructed it."

The main transmission line divides at Dunsmuir, one branch going to Port Alberni and the other proceeding to Nanaimo.

There was some trouble and brief interruptions to rural service, especially in the Parksville-Qualicum district, the chairman added, but this was only to be expected when the high winds snapped branches off trees and threw them against the smaller size wires which serve householders.

Mayor Happy Over Sales Tax Payment

Mayor Percy George said on his return from Ottawa today he was "most pleased" to hear that B.C. municipalities will receive on Dec. 15 a $2,000,000 share of this year's sales tax collections.

The mayor, as president of the B.C. Union of Municipalities, and R. Sewell, secretary of the union, interviewed Finance Minister Herbert Anscomb a few weeks ago to press for payment of a share of the tax before the end of the year.

They asked also that two payments, instead of one, be made to municipalities annually, and this request was granted.

"It is important that we receive a payment in June, as Mr. Anscomb has stated we will," the chief magistrate said. The second payment will be made in December.

Lions May Sponsor Weekly Activities In Esquimalt Area

An overture has been made to Esquimalt Council by the Victoria Lions Club for permission to operate some sort of money-making affair one night a week in the municipality to provide entertainment and recreation for people of Greater Victoria and, at the same time, raise money for worthwhile charities.

Esquimalt Council seems anxious to co-operate with the city service club and at a recent meeting passed a resolution to the effect that: "'Consideration be given the Lions Club for their social activities in Esquimalt provided proceeds are devoted to worthy causes."

It is understood the council has in mind sponsoring more activities for Esquimalt children if the Lions Club is willing to work for this purpose.

John Kohut, cyclist, 3161 Street, was taken to Jubilee Hospital and treated for slight head injuries and bruises to the right arm and leg Tuesday evening. The wheel he was riding was in collision with a car at Burnside Road and Irma Street, driven by Russell N. Knight, 31 Conrad Street, city police reported.

Olympic Question Chief Topic Scheduled For A.A.U. Meeting

By W. R. WHEATLEY

MONTREAL (CP)—Canada's future in development of amateur sport, with particular attention to strengthening the Dominion's Olympic Games competition, may be decided in London, Ont., this week-end.

The Amateur Athletic Union of Canada meets Nov. 18-20 and the Canadian Olympic Association, irking under its status of committee under the A.A.U., gathers the final day with its president, A. Sidney Dawes.

Union president George C. Machum said today that business Thursday and Friday is expected to be routine. Saturday morning has been set aside for an open, full-dress discussion on what to do for sport generally and Olympic competition.

What divergences of opinion may arise, and how sharp they may be, remain to be seen.

Machum said all sports-governing bodies have been invited to the meetings, particularly that of the final day, when opinions or submissions will be sought.

He expected no definite plan "will be finalized" because some representatives may want to report black to their executives. Any concrete result may not come until after a meeting in Ottawa Jan. 7 and 8 of sports-governing bodies with the federal government's national council on physical fitness.

SPORTS CONGRESS

On the other hand, Dawes is definitely in favor of a Canadian sports congress, patterned after that in Sweden, and is of the opinion the C.O.A. should be controlled by all sports-governing bodies instead of being a committee of the A.A.U. of C.

It is also know that the C.O.A. is not averse to applying for letters patent and a charter, with members of the newly incorporated C.O.A. being appointed by all sports-governing bodies. Appointment would be on a basis proportionate to the bodies' numerical participation in major and minor events of Olympic and British Empire Games.

Federal Grant Favored By Dawes

Dawes said Sweden's success in sport stems from its sports congress, with 60 representatives from 25 sports-governing bodies and bolstered by $1,000,000 a year contribution from the Swedish government. He is in favor of a federal grant for all sports-governing bodies in Canada.

REGIMENTATION

Machum did not think the Swedish plan feasible in Canada. He said it smacks too much of European regimentation and that "Canadians won't be told what to do."

He said it was reasonable to think the Canadian government would do more for sport than it has in the past but too great governmental participation would make sport "mechanical and without sentiment."

He advocated financial aid not from the government but "from across Canada.'" All sports organizations and communities should get behind sport under competent leadership everywhere.

Machum said there should be "radical changess in the C.O.A. set-up and the identical body should handle British Empire Games, not two organizations with overlapping membership.

Dawes' views of the A.A.U. of C. is that its principal aim should be to further track and field sports.

IMPORTANT UNIONS

"These are administered by the various national amateur athletic unions of the various countries, and as the sports of track and field are so widely practiced right from our childhood days up, and because they enter into so many other sports, the unions are generally the most important of the national sports-governing bodies.

"In Canada, however, our Amateur Athletic Union also administers boxing, wrestling, weight-lifting and gymnastics, which tends to divide their interest."

Seeks To Have Conn Suspended From Ring

SAVANNAH, Ga. (AP)—Secretary Leon Collins of the Savannah Boxing Commission said last night he is seeking to have heavyweight Billy Conn suspended from the ring.

Collins said Conn and a Macon match-maker, Sol Winegroff, defaulted on a verbal cantract to appear in Savannah for a fight Thursday night. He is also seeking Winegroff's suspension.

Conn, the Pittsburgh contender, who last two fights for Joe Louis' heavyweight crown, started a comeback in Macon Monday by scoring a ninth-round technical knockout over Mike O'Dowd of New York.

Four Teams Wage Close Battle For Tenpin Leadership

Only a single game separates all four squads in the city senior tenpin league at the Arcade Alleys, and the teams have been constantly waging a nip and tuck battle for the title since the loop opened play.

Gorge Hotel and Pacific Meat are currently sharing first place in the standings, each with 14 wins against 13 setbacks. Arcades and Melrose Cafe-Bill's Spot are the other squads, both deadlocked a single game behind the leaders.

Harold Paulding of Pacific Meat is sporting the highest individual average with a mark of 180, but he is being hard pressed by Art Porter of Arcades, who has 179. Andy Palmer of Gorge Hotel and Jimmy Ferrie of Pacific Meat are third and fourth with 175 and 172, respectively.

Triple Main Event On Wrestling Card

City wrestling followers will be afforded a "triple main event" at the Armories Saturday night, it was announced today by promoter Rocky Brooks.

In the first event, Victoria's Chief Thunderbird, rugged Indian specialist, will oppose the ex-bullfighter, Chico Garcia, a Spaniard. Jack Kiser and Tony Ross will mix it up in a second event, while Billy Varga and Bill Hunter round out the card.

Bouts are best two-of-three falls limited to six 10-minute rounds. First bout will get under way at 8.30.

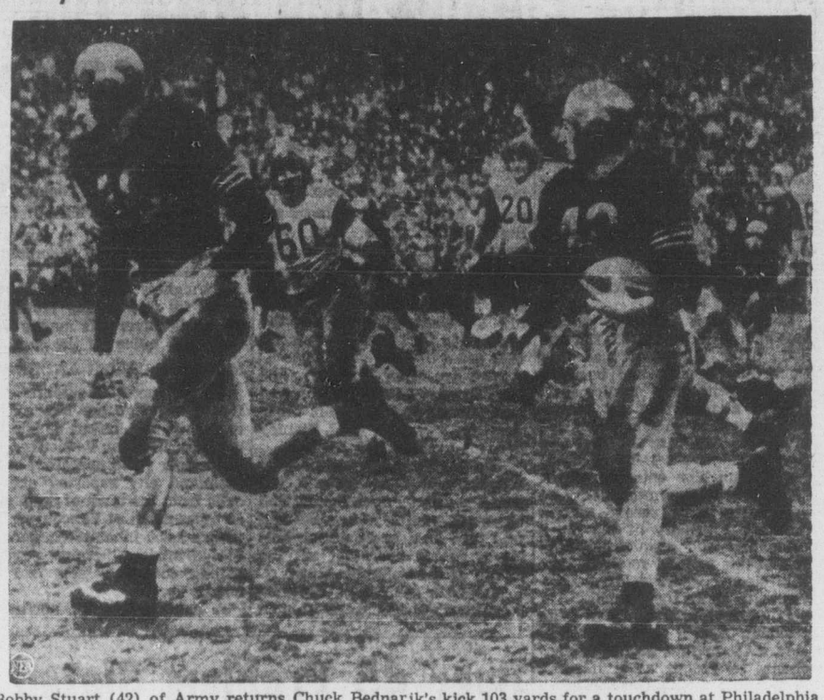
OFF TO LONDON

TORONTO (CP) — Solly Cantor, Toronto boxer, has left for London, England, to meet Billy Thompson, English lightweight champion. Thompson recently lost the British Empire division title to Toronto's Li'l Arthur King in a London bout and if Cantor defeats Thompson he plans to challenge King.

NEW PORTLAND COACH

PORTLAND (AP)—Art Mills, Detroit Tiger coach for five years, was signed Tuesday as coach for the Portland Beavers of the coast league. Mills was hired on recommendation of Bill Sweeney, new Beaver manager, who formerly was with him on the Detroit team.

Army Scores On 103-Yard Run



Bobby Stuart (42) of Army returns Chuck Bednarik's kick 103 yards for a touchdown at Philadelphia, marking up longest run ever made by West Pointer. Arnold Califfa (16) runs interference while Rednarik (60) and Jones Farquhar (20) try in vain to stop Stuart. This run enabled point-starved Army to stay in contest which it finally won, 26 to 20, and maintain undefeated record.

'Muzz' Patrick's Rockets Set New Coast League Mark

The Tacoma Rockets hold a new record for the Pacific Coast Hockey League by virtue of their five-game sweep against southern division teams.

The Rockets edged the Fresno Falcons 3 to 2 Tuesday night to complete the sweep. It was the first time that any league team scored a five-game winning streak against teams of the opposite division.

The previous mark of four was scored by the now defunct Hollywood Wolves in the 1946-47 season.

The Rockes last night jumped into a two-goal lead at Fresno and then saw the score tied in the third period before Fern Perrault, the league's leading scorer banged home the payoff shot.

In Oakland, the Oaks and the Los Angeles Monarchs went to a 11 to 1 tie when neither scored in the overtime period, leaving the two teams tied for the southern division lead.

In the only game in the northern division, the Vancouver Canucks shellacked the Seattle Ironmen, 7 to 1, on the Vancouver ice. Joe Medynski scored Seattle's lone goal in the first period and from there on out it was a Canuck game. George Hunchuck and Hermie Gruhn paced the winners with two goals each.

Budding Hockey Stars Rise Early In Toronto

TORONTO (CP)—Curly-haired 15-year-old Gerry Cooper adjusted his pads, looked out over the 4 a.m. stillness of Varsity arena and summed it up succinctly:

"My pop thinks I'm crazy, but it's the only way I get to play."

Gerry was one of about 40 juveniles in the Toronto Hockey League out the other morning for an hour's practice in the only time available for Toronto's hockey-mad youngsters in the late fall when open-air, natural-ice rinks aren't available. That's 1 to 5 a.m.

He is just one of hundreds of kids trooping each week-day morning before dawn from their homes to Toronto's four available indoor rinks. The young forward, like the others, goes to bed "real early" one night a week, sympathetic parents awakening him at 2 a.m. After his hour on the ice he scoots home for another hour in bed before going to school.

Swelling numbers of pro hockey hopefuls have kept Toronto's four indoor rinks operating on an average 17-hour schedule six days a week.

JAPANESE TEAM

The early-morning workouts aren't confined to Toronto's occidental hockey enthusiasts. The city also has a team of juvenile Japanese, eagerly practicing for the day when they can challenge a league club on even terms.

Full N.H.L. Schedule May Shuffle Standings

All six teams in the National Hockey League see action tonight as the three top teams meet the three second division squads in games which may well give the standing a shake-up.

The league-leading Detroit Red Wings entertain New York Rangers, Montreal Canadiens tangle with Black Hawks in Chicago and Boston Bruins meet Leafs in Toronto.

Only two points separate Canadiens and Bruins — tied for second place—from the flying Detroit squad. A loss for the Red Wings coupled with wins by Montreal and Boston would produce a three-way deadlock for top spot.

A switch in the arrangement of the three bottom teams may also result. The Maple Leafs have eight points; Rangers, seven and the up-and-coming Black Hawks six.

O'CONNOR BACK SOON

Yesterday, Buddy O'Connor, New York's high-scoring centre, donned Ranger livery for the first time this year—but just for practice. He is expected to make his first game appearance against Chicago in New York, Nov. 30.

The slick stick-handler, who suffered broken ribs in an automobile smash-up a week before the season opened, scrimmaged with the blueshirts although his teammates were careful not to maul his still-tender chest.

STILL OUT OF ACTION

Still on the Ranger injured list are defenceman Frankie Eddolls, who received a bad lacerated knee in the same auto accodent, and rookie centre Nick Mickoski, out with a dislocated shoulder.

News from Montreal is that big Emile (Batch) Bouchard, Canadiens solid blueline blocker, hopes to return to action in Detroit Saturday. Bouchard suffered strained tendrons in his left knee in last week's rugged game with the Black Hawks. He has been taking special treatments since and the knee seems to be mending well.

SOCCER WORKOUT

Eagles intermediate soccer club will hold a practice at Athletic Park tonight at 8. All players are asked to attend.

Y.M.C.A. In Bid For Empire Swim Trials

The Y.M.C.A. Swimming Club has applied for permission to stage the British Empire Games swimming trials in Victoria late next year, it was announced following a meeting of the swimming club executive Monday night.

The British Empire Games will be held in New Zealand in 1950 and it is expected that majority of the Canadian trials will take place on the west coast.

Under the chairmanship of president Jack Todd the meeting also ratified the Dec. 4 date for the swim meet with Washington Athletic Club at the Crystal Gardens. Ray Daughters, coach of the W.A.C. swimmers previously had agreed to the proposed date in a telephone conversation with Archie McKinnon.

First Defeat For Calgary Junior Team

CALGARY (CP)—Calgary Buffaloes, who have held sway over the Western Canana Junior Hockey League since the inaugural game, today are licking the wounds of their sifrt defeat. Bellevue Lions pulled the upset, 5 to 2, before 1,000 fans here last night.

Backed by Dave McClay's brilliant net-minding and playing their first game under their new coach, Scotty Munro, the Lions came through with the biggest upset of the season for their second victory in eight starts.

J.B.A.A. Reunion Banquet Scheduled Tomorrow Night

James Bay Athletic Association or more commonly referred to as "Bays," one of the oldest athletic organizations on the Pacific coast, will hold its first big annual reunion banquet tomorrow night at the Colwood Golf Club at 7.

J.B.A.A. officials hope to make the reunion an annual affair and to build up the J.B.A.A. name to the prominent position it once held in many branches of sports on the Pacific coast.

Old-time Bay members requesting tickets or transportation to the banquet are asked to contact Bert Fuller at E 4181.

Some ex-Bay members may recall activities of the past with the announcement that Donnie Maclean and Jack "Bull" Macdonald are coming down from Courtenay for the banquet, while Benny McMillan is making the trip over from Vancouver.

Swimming Coach Finds Task Takes Most Of Spare Time

WINNIPEG (CP)—In western Canada the name Arthur (Pop) Sidwell is synonymous with swimming. Rightly so — for several years now proteges of the veteran coach have copped most of the laurels in western swim meets.

Pop started swimming in 1905 at the age of 11. He has hardly been out of the water since. Now 54, with silvery-grey hair and a jaunty walk, he still is hard at it.

Most of coach Sidwell's spare time is taken up with his hobby. While is is not occupied at his trade — photo engraving — he is conducting classes for members of the Y.M.C.A. and Y.W.C.A. or students of the University of Manitoba. He has been coaching day and night—practically every day of the week—for the last 10 years. In the last three years he conducted almost 2,000 classes.

Coach Sidwell's fondest ambition was to compete in the Olympic Games. He never realized that dream—the first Great War canceled the 1914 Olympics after he was chosen for the English swimming team.

But now Pop is coaching present and future Canadian Olympians. Vivian King—a champion Canadian swimmer who competed in the Olympics this year—has been coached by him for the last three years.

Canada's dismal showing in the last Olympics was no surprise to the little coach. He claims it wasn't due to lack of enthusiasm or coaching but shortage of swimming facilities.

POOLS IN SCHOOLS

"I hope to see the day when all big high schools in Canada have swimming pools," he says. "That's where champion swimmers are produced." He believes Canadians should learn to swim as early in life as possible.

"Lots of otherwise good swimmers never reach championship ranks because they started too late," he says. "Many drownings need not have occurred if the victims had learned to swim and overcome their fear of water."

Savold Bidding For Shot At Joe Louis

HALIFAX (CP)—Heavyweight contender Lee Savold said here Tuesday that if he wins his next fight, against Bruce Woodcock in London, Dec. 6, "I'll be fighting Joe Louis in June." The 30-year-old Savold said he thought he could win both encounters.

Among passengers scheduled to leave on the liner Mauretania, he was accompanied by his manager, Bill Daly, who said: "Lee will beat Woodcock alright. If by some chance he doesn't, we'll go in for the movie business."

Rocket Richard Provokes Mystery Comment Of Year

NEW YORK (CP) — The "Rocket" is replacing the flying saucer as the mystery provoking the most comment of the year.

The searing enigma, why did Maurice (Rocket) Richard of Montreal Canadiens score 50 goals in the 1944-45 season and only 28 last year?

Manager Frank Boucher of New York Rangers says this is the answer: Richard sifted through war-weakened teams during the height of his scoring flare and now is baffled by rebuilt defences in the National Hockey League.

Oh yeah? Hints Baz (Montreal Star) O'Meara: "One of these nights the "Rocket" will resume his scoring ways and the incense burning will start all over again."

This latest Richard rumpus started when James A. Burchard of the New York World-Telegram paraphrased Boucher thus:

"It's ridiculous to compare him (Richard) in the same breath with Howie Morenz, Bill Cook, Aurel Joliat, Nels Stewart and other old stars who really earned their goals. Anybody can score against cream puffs. It's a little tougher against a brick of ice cream."

Last night Boucher expanded in an interview on the remarks he made to Burchard, which included:

Richard would garner a total of 20 goals this season "if he gets hot." The "Rocket" has shared two tallies in the 11 games he has played this season.

"Don't forget that Morenz and the others had only three-man attacks in the old days," said Boucher, "but don't get me wrong. If the Canadiens by any chance wish to free Monsieur Richard, I will be delighted to have him."

Rowe To Be Honored At Dominion Grid Final

WINNIPEG (CP)—Paul Rowe of Calgary Stampeders will be presented with the Dave Dryburgh Memorial Trophy, emblematic of the season's individual scoring record in western Canadian senior football, when Stamps meet the eastern champions, Ottawa Roughriders or Hamilton Tigers, for the Grey Cup at Toronto Nov. 27, trustees of the trophy announced last night.

The trophy is being put up for competition by western sports writers in memory of the late sports editor of the Regina Leader-Post, Dave Dryburgh, who drowned last July 10 at B-Say-Tak, Sask., a summer resort 60 miles northeast of Regina.

Rowe, captain and fullback of the western champion Stampeders, totaled 35 points on seven touchdowns in 12 league games to win the individual scoring title by a two-point margin over Saskatchewan Roughriders' Ken Charlton.

Western sports' writers decided to put up the trophy in honor of Dryburgh, when it was learned there was no actual recognition made of the leading scorer.

The new trophy's name—the Dave Dryburgh Memorial—was the unanimous choice of the donors.

ASTUTE OBSERVER

Described as one of the most astute sports' observers in Canada, Dryburgh was editor for 18 years, and his column Sports Byways ranged with the best in the Dominion. Sport was his first love and Dryburgh was at his best writing football, hockey and curling.

Bays, V.H.S. Share Grass Hockey Title

Oak Bay High girl's senior grass hockey squad edged the previously undefeated Victoria High Blacks, 1 to 0, yesterday to wind up in a tie with the latter for the league championship.

Both squads scored four wins in five starts, while Esquimalt finished third, two points back. Mount Douglas, Mount View and Vic High Golds finished fourth, fifth and sixth, respectively.

School officials have made no decision with regard to playoffs. The spring league will commence in February.

INDIANS SIGN AGREEMENT

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Cleveland Indians signed a working agreement with San Diego of the Pacific Coast Baseball League, vice-president Hank Greenberg announced Tuesday.

Plan Modern Swimming Pool

JASPER—By midsummer of next year, it is expected that this little town in the Canadian Rockies will be able to boast of one of the finest swimming pools in all Canada, and one of the very few places in the Dominion where swimming trials can be held over the full Olympic distance. This announcement was made here today by Major J. Wood, superintendent of Jasper National Park.

The new swimming pool is the first unit of general expansion to be offered visitors to the park and work is already well under way. The pool will be 165 feet in length and 42 feet in width. One end will be 15 feet in depth to take care of the diving, while the other will be shallow enough for children and non-swimmers.

The complete program calls for an artificial ice curling and skating rink, tennis courts, lawn bowling greens, a playground for baseball and a quarter-mile track.

"When the swimming pool goes into operation it will readily be seen what an ideal place this will be for the Olympic trials and contenders will be able to test themselves under truly Olympic conditions. The pool also will be tremendously popular with the thousands of tourists throughout the summer seasons," declared the veteran park superintendent.

Grey Cup Final Will Find Stamps In Shape

CALGARY (CP) — Coach Les Lear promised today his hard-as-nails Cowboys will be the best conditioned team ever to represent western Canada in a Dominion football final.

"You can't win ball games when you're out of condition," said the burly ex-Winnipegger.

"Stampeders are in good shape now and, believe me, they'll be even tougher on Nov. 27.'

Lear's relentless insistence on nightly conditioning drills at the start of each practice session is credited with playing a major part in the Calgary squad's undefeated march to the western Canada grid championship.

His determination to field the best conditioned club possible was reflected following Stamps 17 to 6 triumph in the final game of the western play-off. He ordered the club back to full practice sessions after only a one-day lay-off. He even has laid plans for elaborate calisthenics exercises while the club is en route to Oakville, Ont., where the final week of workouts will be held. Stamps leave here Thursday night for the east.

"We have mapped out a training itinerary for the trip," the 235-pound former professional lineman said. "Every time the train makes a 20-minute stop or longer, the boys will go through a stiff calistehenics drill."

Lear's conditioning drills make even spectators perspire. But the Cowboys race through them with the same vim and dash they display in scrimmages.

TRAINING ROUTINE

A typpical 2½-hour practice grind starts out with a mile to 1½-mile "warm-up" run, about 30 minutes of calisthenics follow, including everything from "injun wrestling" to push-ups and deep-knee bends. The remainder of the practice is devoted to signal and blocking drills and scrimmages.

"Those conditioning exercises are the real thing," veteran full-back Paul Rowe said. "It's hard work, but it makes playing a game a real pleasure. And you're not so liable to be injured when you're in condition."

The coach summed it up with a crisp "we're taking no chances. This is going to be the best conditioned team that ever represented western Canada in the Grey Cup final."

Saanich Basketball

McMorran's intermediate B boys defeated Saanichton, 27 to 14, in a low-scoring Saanich and suburban league basketball game at Royal Oak Hall last night. M. Polson paced winners with 11 points.

Preliminaries saw Sooke junior boys drub McMorran's, 39 to 11, and McMorran's intermediate B girls trounce Sooke, 37 to 7.

Tips On Golf Rules

By ROBERT FOULIS

Tip No. 51

ATTEMPTING TO PLAY TWO GAMES AT ONE TIME

Question: A. and B. are about to play their match in a tournament. As it is the morning of the monthly medal competition they agree to take out cards and play in both competitions at the same time.

Answer: It is no use reading any more. They are not playing golf but some game of their own invention that would require about 1579 rules! Both players should be disqualified in both competitions. If you don't agree, here is what the rules committee of the R. and A. has to say: "The Rules Committee is of the opinion that, as the rules governing match and stroke play are so substantially different, the risk of complications arising if the combining of the two forms is attempted, is so great that the results of matches played under these circumstances and the scores returned, should not be accepted.—"Golfing."

The ancient history of Golf shows that it was not meant to be a card and pencil game. The device of counting every stroke was only invented at St. Andrews in order to determine in the easiest way who was the best player at the time.

Stroke play and match play will never mix.

J. G. Ryan Newest Entry In Saanich Election Race

Indications point to Saanich municipal elections on Dec. 18 having a keen flavor.

Answering the call of the older generation for youth to get into civic politics and take a more active interest in the affairs of their communities, John George Ryan, 30 years old, of 914 Stafford Street, announced this afternoon he would seek the Ward 2 council seat.

Councillor George Rudd is the present member on the council for that ward and he announced at the Monday night meeting in Ward 4 that he would seek re-election.

This means three ward contests to date—Wards 1, 2 and 4.

A four-and-a-half-year veteran of the Royal Canadian Navy, with the rank of petty officer, Mr. Ryan has been a resident of Saanich for the majority of his life and was educated in the municipality.

"I am keenly interested in the affairs of Saanich and wish to take an active part in its operations," the new candidate said. He said he was answering the challenge that has been sounded time and again in public since the end of the war for the younger generation to step forward and get into the civic politics' picture.

Mr. Ryan did not state his platform, but indicated that if elected he would work in the best interests of the ward and municipality.

Three Lions Clubs To Meet In Nanaimo

A joint meeting of Victoria, Nanaimo and Ladysmith Lions Club members will be held Saturday night at Nanaimo.

New members of all three clubs will undergo initiation into the service organization at the meeting.

Brave Wild Weather To Donate Blood

Although not as many blood donors turned up at the Red Cross mobile blood collection unit while it was stationed here Monday and Tuesday as had been hoped for by Red Cross officials, a good number of persons braved the wild weather and kept their appointments.

"We did not reach our quota for this month's visit of the clinic, though," one official stated.

The next visit of the unit to this city will be on Dec. 8 and 9. Appointments to donate on these dates can be made now.

It is hoped by Red Cross officers here that sufficient donations will be made then to tide the needs of the hospitals over the Christmas and New Year seasons when it is inconvenient for donors to attend clinic sessions.

Mayor Pleads Esquimalt Taxation Case At Ottawa Cabinet Meeting

Mayor Percy George is optimistic that municipalities will benefit from the conference in Ottawa last week between the federal cabinet and a delegation from the Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities of which he was a member.

The chief magistrate returned home this morning after being 10 days away from the city. He spent Tuesday in Vancouver where, as president of the B.C. Union of Municipalities, he addressed the B.C. Division of the National Building Contractors' Association on municipal housing plans and problems.

It was on housing that the mayors' delegation to the federal cabinet spent much time, and Mayor George felt a victory had been scored in Prime Minister St. Laurent's reversal of policy in hinting a federal subsidized housing plan may be introduced to alleviate the critical conditions across the country.

20 RESOLUTIONS

The mayors presented 20 resolutions passed at the recent federation convention in Halifax to the cabinet in printed form, and presented verbal arguments on three main points, housing, taxation of crown property and municipal-federal relations.

Mayor George was spokesman on the taxation question, and he made pleas also on the question of salacious literature and the high cost of living.

On taxation of crown property, the Victoria mayor "went to bat" for Esquimalt municipality where, he stressed, two-thirds of the municipal assessment is wiped out because of crown property within its boundaries.

He argued that such municipalities should be assisted by the rest of the country through the national exchequer because the load they are carrying is for the protection of the Dominion.

"Why should Esquimalt be penalized because property there is used for national defence purposes?" Mayor George asked.

He said the cabinet stated it had the problem under advisement, and when he asked if the municipalities could expect an answer on the question, he was told every effort would be made to give an answer.

MAYORS' RIGHT

On municipal-federal relations, the cabinet agreed that it was the right of the mayors to go to Ottawa with matters concerning every municipality within the jurisdiction of the federal government. Previously it was an unwritten law in some provinces that all dealings should be with provincial governments.

Mayor George asked that the federal government give every consideration to the investigating of the distribution of undesirable reading, mainly comic books, with a view to banning salacious literature.

MUST OBTAIN CONTROL

He reminded the cabinet also, that if control of the cost of living is not obtained, the national economy of Canada will be threatened. He said control should be obtained by use even of bureaucratic methods if necessary.

Another point taken up by the mayors was a wartime federal measure still in effect which allows conversion of single-family houses into dwellings for more than one family. The cabinet was asked to revoke this measure in view of the stress it was placing on municipal services as well as the detrimental affect on zoning regulations.

T.B. Christmas Seal Campaign Underway

Twenty thousand Greater Victoria householders have received through the mail their 1948 Christmas seals.

The Victoria Soroptimist Club, which is again handling the distribution of seals in this area, reports two sheets of 100 stamps each have been sent to everyone on their mailing list. In return for the stamps, householders are requested to send $2 to the Soroptimist Club for use in combating tuberculosis.

Officials of the campaign ask that donations be sent in to campaign headquarters, Room 14, Williams Building, 749 Broughton Street, as soon as possible and that the convenient return-mail envelope, enclosed with every sheet of stamps, be used to facilitate filing.

Christmas seals were originated in Denmark in 1903. Since then, they have been sold in many countries of the world and the proceeds turned over to help fight tuberculosis. According to statistics, tuberculosis kills more Canadians than any other communicable disease.

Opportunity Lacking For Youth Of Germany

The youth of Germany is being held back through lack of opportunity in the opinion of W. C. Watkins, recently returned from government service in Europe.

Speaking before the Community Workers' Club of Victoria at the Strathcona Hotel Tuesday evening, Mr. Watkins stated that the minds of young Germans were open to reason, and that the stories of boys roaming the country in bands were greatly exaggerated.

The speaker said the serious unemployment problem in Germany is a major reason for the lack of opportunity for young people.

Mr. Watkins told the gathering of living conditions and of preparatory work with displaced persons.

Following his address, members held a general discussion on the subject.

Hit-Run Accident

City police are looking for a car which was immediately driven off after it had struck a car parked on the road opposite 601 Esquimalt Road Tuesday evening. The parked vehicle is owned by Pitt and Holt Co. The unknown car, police said, collided with the rear fender of the company vehicle causing about $40 worth of damage.

'Flaming Redhead' Held Too Incendiary

NEW YORK (AP)—Winnie Garrett, nighclub dancer and former Broadway burlesque entertainer, was arrested today on a charge of presenting a "newd and indecent performance."

Miss Garrett, known as "The Flaming Redhead," was picked up at the Club Ha-Ha, where she was featured in a floor show.

The club manager, James Nitti, 38, was booked on a charge of operating a place where an "indecent performance is given.

At police headquarters an officer, noting something in Miss Garrett's hand, asked, "what's that—a necktie."

"That's my costume," she said.

B.C. Playwrights

With the co-operation of the Department of Health and Welfare at Ottawa, the Dominion drama festival discussion group is preparing a list of Canadian playwrights.

In order that the British Columbia list be as complete as possible, information is solicited from all who have knowledge of the subject. The following details are necessary: Name and address of playwright, plays or play written (one act or full length), publisher of play (if published), whether available in manuscript form or otherwise, honors won by script or play in productions.

Co-operation of all is desired to enable this report to be made as quickly as possible. Information should be sent to H. S. Hurn, Department of Education, Victoria.

Selling Pressure Accents Decline

NEW YORK (AP)—An increase in selling pressure late today accented a slow decline in the stock market.

Losses ranged from fractions to around two points. Many issues which had held small gains for a while later moved to the minus column.

Trading activity picked up as offerings of stocks became a little more insistent.

Canadian issues were lower. McIntyre dropped ⅜. Canadian Pacific and Hiram Walker each lost ¼. Dome Mines and Distillers Seagrams each eased ⅛.

On the curb, Lake Shore dropped ¼.

CHICAGO (AP)—The advance in grain prices moved right along Wednesday, despite some heavy selling on the way up. Wheat took over the market's leadership as milling interests bought large quantities of December and May contracts.

Golds In Van Of Downward Trend

TORONTO (CP) — Golds led the downward trend on the Toronto Stock Exchange Wednesday. Industrials sagged slightly as trading continued brisk and base metals dipped from the opening bell. Western oils opened on a firmer note but later weakened.

The gold list slid steeply downwards to touch the lowest figure on the exchange's index since 1943 for the fifth successive day. Dome was down to a new low in the seniors and declines outnumbered advances by about 4 to 1 in the junior list. McKenzie, Aunor, Consolidated Beattie, Donalda, Kirkland Lake and Preston were among junior issues selling at new lows.

Papers and steels were narrowly easier in the industrial groupings.

Toronto index:

20 industrials	184,73, off	.31
20 golds	79.99, off	1.82
10 base metal	107.84, off	1.21
15 western oil	47.75, off	.67

Total sales, 1,472,000.

London Market

LONDON (Reuter)—Prices on the London Stock Exchange moved higher today under the influence of buying for the new account. Trading, however, never reached large proportions, but was sufficient for the consolidation of the small man's improvements.

The oil market displayed some irregularity but one or two of the leading issues were firm on small support.

British government stocks forged fractionally ahead with the long-dated stocks in keen demand. The market continues to discuss the prospect of new government financing in the near future.

An active market in South African developers created useful gains in these issues. Dividend-payers were easier in idleness. Copper shares were outstandingly firm on good dividend payment by the Rhodesian selection trust.

Asks Court To Admit Wied's Statements In Murder Trial

Mr. Justice A. D. Macfarlane in Assize Court today was asked by Crown Prosecutor W. H. M. Haldane to permit the jury to hear the evidence of two police officers with regard to statements made to them by Jacob E. Wied, charged with the murder of his wife on July 17.

He argued the statements were made voluntarily by the accused after his wife, suffering from a knife wound, was taken to Royal Jubilee Hospital for treatment. She died a few hours later.

Patrick J. Sinnott, counsel for the defence, objected to the admissibility of evidence on the grounds that police officers had not warned the prisoner that he would be charged in connection with the incident. He claimed Wied was questioned by police with the object of building a case against him.

Discussion over the legality of the evidence was argued in court without the jury being present.

Mr. Justice Macfarlane reserved a decision.

Earlier Constable Appleton testified that when he entered the room at 1025 Yates Street he found Mrs. Wied lying on a couch and the accused sitting beside her.

He said he found a knife partly covered over with a blood-soaked shirt. He said there was a great amount of blood about the room, as well as broken dishes.

"Mrs. Wied seemed to be in a very weak condition and was pale in color," he said. He said she was not bleeding at the time.

Stolen Car Was Used For Robbery

The car stolen from the home of Mrs. J. O. Cameron, 1262 Rockland Avenue, between Sunday night and Monday morning, apparently was used in connection with the safe robbery at Hawkes Bros. garage at Moss and Fairfield Road during the same period, Insp. Harry Mercer said today.

He said the owners of the car had identified marks in the rear luggage compartment which had not been there before. The marks are such as could be made by a heavy object which had been pushed inside. The safe has not been found.

City police report they have also recovered the portion of the cash register stolen from the premises of Page the Cleaner, Douglas Street, last week. It was found in the Thetis Lake area.

Coast Guard Cutter Goes To Tug's Aid

A U.S. Coast Guard report today said a cutter had been ordered to go to the aid of the 116-foot tug Monarch which got into trouble off the Alaskan coast during the heavy gales which were subsiding along the north Pacific coast.

The Monarch, towing 3,000,000 feet of logs, got into trouble when her rudder broke off Dundas Island, near Ketchikan, Alaska, while en route to the Puget Sound.

The U.S. cutter White Holly was ordered out from Ketchikan to help the Monarch into port at Prince Rupert.

One Woman's Day

By NANCY HODGES

BEARDS AND TIES

I FIND SOMETHING disquieting in the rash of beards which seem to be springing up all over Vancouver Island, like a new form of forest fungus.

From Port Alberni and Alberni came the news that hundreds of that enterprising community's solid—and some of them not so solid—citizens have been vying with each other in hirsute adornment.

And now Campbell River in a spirit of emulation or envy, I am not sure which, is following suit with a vim and vigor worthy of better things than beards, in my humble opinion.

'FORTY-NINERS'

THIS SUDDEN SPROUTING of masculine faces appears to be due to a merely temporary fashion in the communities concerned, thank goodness.

Apparently one of the easiest and surest ways of raising money from men is by reviving memories—along with other more tangible things—associated with the heyday of the Klondike.

And to make the glories (?) of the Gold Rush period seem more convincing, the psuedo-Forty-Niners are challenged to grow beards as a reminder of the days when men proclaimed their virility not only by hair on their chests but on their faces as well.

BARBERS BUSY

SOME OF THE EFFECTS at the height of the whisker-growing contest have been startling, I am told. But it must have been even worse when the beards were in embryo, looking either like an advanced case of 5-o'clock-shadow or like a frustrated fuzz.

However, it must at least create business for the barbers when the Klondike revival is set up. So much so that I can imagine all the barber-shop quartettes lustily singing "O, Who Will O'er the Down With Me?" as they clip the down from fungus-covered faces.

Speaking of clipping, I want to pass on to our island bearded—and barbers—an idea which comes from eastern Canada as to what to do with the clippings. And I make no charge for doing so.

FORT WILLIAM FUN

UNTIL I CAUGHT SIGHT of the item in an Ontario paper I hadn't realized how widespread was the rash of beards among our Canadian male folk. Even down in Fort William they are staging a winter carnival, too.

And the male citizenry has been invited to grow beards for the occasion. Incidentally, it should be a popular move down there as the human hedge thus created may serve to protect the wearer against the icy winds that blow, even if a beard does offer a convenient resting place for icicles and wind-blown snow.

But the Fort William Forty-Niners have got an even greater inducement to enter the whisker-growing contest than mere protection from the weather.

WEAVE WHISKERS

TWO MEMBERS OF THE Thunder Bay Weavers' Guild have come forward with a crackerjack suggestion. They have offered to clip the men's beards during the carnival and to weave the whiskers into "handsome ties"!

I have seen some awful ties in my life but I cannot imagine what sort of pepper-and-salt effect a whisker-weave of, say, ginger and brunette bristles would produce. However, the offer has been accepted by the carnival committee and the winners will be presented with this homespun souvenir of the way in which they and their pals have been trimmed.

After all of which it isn't at all surprising to learn that down in the United States there is a determined movement to denude Santa Claus of his traditional whiskers or, if that fails, to DDT them. Perhaps, down there, they are destined to end up, not as ties, but as doormats.
